RESULTS OF MUNICIPAL ELECTION ON FILE

Council Canvasses Vote and Adopts Ordinance; New Officials Present

THE CITY COUNCIL last night took cognizance of Tuesday's municipal election and, after officially canvassing the votes, adopted a formal ordinance declaring Asa Hall and W. A. Horn newly elected councilmen, Mrs. Nettie C. Brown and Dr. Presly O. Lucas re-elected members of the grammar school board of education. This ordinance further admitted the defeat of proposed charter amendments Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, and the proposed bond issue of $49,000 for the purchase of the airport and called attention to the affirmation of proposed charter amendments Nos. 5 and 6 and the approval of the proposed donation of a clubhouse site to the American Legion. It also stated that voters had approved the proposition to pay for the maintenance of ornamental street lights by general taxation.

Although last night's session was the last full meeting of the present city council, last night's meeting was adjourned until 6:30 o'clock Monday night. The present council will then go into session from that hour until 8 o'clock. At this time Councilmen A. H. Lapham and Dwight W. Stephenson will officially give up their places on the council.

Attend Session

Councilmen-elect W. A. Horn and Asa Hall, who will succeed them, were present at last night's session as spectators. Mayor Spencer Robinson invited them to make themselves at home within the docket but they declined the invitation with thanks.

Last night's council meeting contained nothing of the spectacular. It was devoted almost exclusively to routine procedure. A hearing on the widening of San Fernando road and several other subjects were postponed for the attention of the new council. A large part of the session was occupied with the canvassing of the votes.

Candidates were officially credited with the following number of votes: Asa Hall, 1268; W. A. Horn, 1182; Sidney S. Gilhuly, 895; Don H. Webb, 847; A. H. Lapham, 727; Frank Booth, 724, and Allen O. Martin, 349.

Various Propositions

Votes cast for the various propositions on the ballot were as follows:

No. 1—For, 857; against, 1796.
No. 2—For, 1133; against, 1287.
No. 3—For, 1116; against, 1348.
No. 4—For, 852; against, 1659.
No. 5—For, 1242; against, 1102.
No. 6—For, 1339; against, 961.
Legion—For, 2275; against, 695.
Airport—For, 1337; against, 1725.
Lighting—No. 1, 1524; No. 2, 1157.

The official figures differ, in some instances, from those announced on election night and the day following. This is due, however, to the hurry in gathering the returns and, too, because of mistakes made by some of the election boards. Still, the official figures do not change the results as first announced.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 13.—"God Almighty justified it; otherwise He would not have permitted me to fire the revolver," the Rev. Charles Dillon said today, confessing the slaying of the Rev. Father Henry O'Neill.

Father O'Neill, pastor of St. Augustine's Roman Catholic church here, was shot four times by Father Dillon last night, dying instantly. Father Dillon alleged Father O'Neill persecuted him.

Father Dillon will not be brought into court today to face a murder charge, it was announced. Further investigation into Father Dillon's alleged mental torture at the hands of Father O'Neill will be made before any charge is preferred against Father Dillon.

Mathilde McCormick Secretly Wed, Report

LONDON, April 13.—Miss Mathilde McCormick, 18-year-old granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, and Major Max Oser, middle-aged Swiss riding master, to whom she has been engaged for more than a year, were secretly married in London yesterday, International News Service was reliably informed this afternoon.

The couple are reported to have left for some unknown destination to spend their honeymoon.

"Mathilde became of age last week, and friends understood she was merely awaiting her 18th birthday before marrying.

Major Oser and Mathilde were said to have called unexpectedly upon friends in London last night and excitedly announced that they had just been married under a special license. They refused to say who performed the ceremony.

Both Oser and Mathilde threw a veil of secrecy about the reported nuptials. They were as discreetly silent as they have been throughout the romance.

Asked who performed the ceremony, both Mathilde and Oser shook their heads in the negative and smiled. They refused also to give names of the witnesses.

"Why, they met only once before their engagement was announced," she said. "The whole thing was cooked up in Europe before Negri came to the United States by a press agent who got Charlie's permission. I gave Charlie a world of experience.

"As for me, I still believe in love, and marriage. I'm engaged to Byron Munson, but we will wait a while and then marry. We are too young now."

FROWNS ON RE-UNION OF VETS

Suggestion From Father of President Turned Down By Confederate Chief

By RALPH E. LEBLOND
For International News Service

NEW ORLEANS, April 13.—General L. B. Haldeman of Kentucky, newly elected commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, told International News Service today that the suggestion of Dr. George T. Harding of Marion, Ohio, father of the President, for a joint reunion of Union and Confederate Veterans in 1924 was "unwise and impractical."

Dr. Harding's suggestion was made to the convention here on behalf of the Grand Army of the Republic.

"The sectional issue is being blotted out and that we all approve," General Haldeman said, "but a joint meeting, in my opinion, is unwise and impractical. Individual interchange of visits among those who desire to make them is proper and should be encouraged.

Loyal to Flag

"No section of the country is more loyal to the flag of the Union than the Southern states. They have attested that fact when the sons of those who wore the grey fought side by side with the sons of those who wore the blue in two wars since the war between the states.

"The spirit of the Confederate soldier was exhibited in the convention when it gave the cordial greeting to a Union soldier—Dr. Harding, father of the President."

General Haldeman's statement was in explanation of the action of the convention in declining the invitation of Dr. Harding for a joint meeting.

Haldeman was elected commander-in-chief in the closing hours of the convention, succeeding Julian S. Carr, of North Carolina.

Seized Tiara Not of Czar Collection, Said

NEW YORK, April 13.—If the diamond set tiara, seized by treasury department agents from a Los Angeles business man, is a part of the Czar's crown jewels, Aaron Sverdig, New York antique importer, says he missed a golden opportunity.

Sverdig said today he bought the tiara in London two years ago, paying 80 pounds for it — something under $400 at the rate of exchange at the time.

He sold it to M. S. Chorr company, a local retail firm, for $500. About a year ago, Sverdig said, the firm sold the tiara to the Los Angeles man for $1000.

Sverdig laughed when asked if the tiara had ever graced the Czar's collection.

"It isn't good enough to have belonged to the Czar," he said. "I am supposed to be an expert in antiques and the customs officials here frequently call me to appraise jewels."

In fact, he didn't think the jewels were a tiara at all.

"It was supposed to be an Indian necklace when I bought it," he said.

Hagen Not in Challenge To U. S. Golf Champ

NEW YORK, April 13.—Walter Hagen, British open golf champion, denied today that he had issued a challenge to Gene Sarazen, the American champion, to play a special match for a side bet of $10,000 before going abroad to compete for the British title.

"I realize that Sarazen has not been playing much golf for some weeks and it would be small business for me to be issuing challenges under such conditions," Hagen said. "Besides, I consider that a bet such as $10,000 would hurt rather than help professional golf."

GIRL ENDS LIFE

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—Police detectives today sought to lift the veil of mystery cloaking the death of pretty Vida Menn, 25-year-old stenographer for the Automobile Club of Southern California, who died in the back yard of her mother's home, in South Wilton place last night.

Apparently the victim of asphyxiation, the girl was found, almost lifeless, in her bedroom by her mother. She was taken to the back yard by neighbors summoned by the mother's outcries. Attempts to revive her failed.

2-Cent Tax On Gasoline Passed By State Senate

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—The Breed bill, fixing a 2-cent tax on gasoline was today passed by the senate without a dissenting vote. This measure, though part of the motor vehicle regulatory legislation, was separate from the Breed motor vehicle act, also before the senate and which was scheduled to come up later in the day. The tax on gasoline will provide about $10,000,000 in two years, it is estimated, and the funds are to go toward the upkeep of the highways.

Government Will Attempt To Force Millions From Ring of Rich Bootleggers

By W. H. ATKINS
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The government decided to start a campaign to force illicit whiskey dealers to disgorge millions of dollars alleged to be due the government in taxes in liquor sales. Internal revenue collectors, co-operating with prohibition authorities, have been ordered to dig into the records gathered in raids and seizures for evidence to compel payment of the hidden revenues.

Revenue experts estimated today there are probably 50,000 wealthy bootleggers in the United States, liable for tax payments and penalties provided by law for defaulting.

The new drive grows out of sensational disclosures of a ring of Georgia bootleggers, who are reported to have amassed fortunes within the past two years. Bank accounts and other records that show the extent of their operations have been opened to the government's experts. The evidence gathered in this case is being followed up in a score of states at this time by revenue collectors, for it developed that the Georgia "ring of whiskey dealers" was affiliated with other rings in many sections of the country.

Internal revenue bureau officials face as their chief difficulty the problem of establishing to the satisfaction of the courts that the wealth accumulated by the bootleggers and those who supply the bootleggers with their stocks, is directly due to whiskey sales. Officials admitted they will be unable to proceed on mere suspicion. They are greatly aided in the job up to this point by ledgers and other records seized in a variety of ways. Some of the records have been unearthed in recent seizures of whiskey plants which were operating under government permits, but which were, in fact, diverting large quantities of whiskey to illegal channels.

Records taken off ships in the smuggling fleet operating off the Atlantic coast also are considered valuable. Some estimates are that in those cases alone where conclusive proof exists the treasury may be enriched upward of $25,000,000 during the current year.

Take Technical Terms Out Of Laws, Urges Head of American Legion Auxiliary

By SONIA LEE
For International News Service

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 13.—Revision of laws to make them understandable to the layman, bringing awakening of national consciousness and obedience to law, such as resulted from translation of the Bible, was advanced today by Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, national president, American Legion auxiliary, who is attending the fourth annual convention of the National League of Women Voters.

"Those who draft our laws overload them with technical terms, to such an extent that they are incomprehensible to the laymen, who is expected to observe them," said Mrs. Barrett.

"Three-fourths of the laws passed are hazy, and indefinite. They are full of technical loopholes, due alone to the involved phraseology."

Mrs. Barrett also scored the indignity of America's lower courts and "somnolent judges." Juries, she said, are confused by "legal tangle-foot."

Echoing the same sentiment, Mrs. Walter J. Marcley declared that democracy so far has not proven its worth, first, because of the inefficiency of its government, and, second, because the government of a municipality is practically out of the hands of the people once city officials have been elected.

The big question before the league is whether the organization should be bi-partisan or non-partisan. Mrs. Park, president, insists that the organization is non-partisan.

Mrs. Emily Lowell Blair, vice-chairman of the National Democratic committee, is equally insistent the league must become a training school for women in politics.

Lord Robert Cecil is the chief attraction today. He speaks tonight on the league question.

All Night Filibuster In Attempt by Laborites to Oust Bonar Law Failure

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service

LONDON, April 13.—A filibuster by laborites kept the House of Commons in session all night. Adjournment was finally taken at 11:55 o'clock, nearly an hour after the formal Friday session was to begin. Fresh government members, who had obtained a few hours' sleep, arrived and it was decided to hold today's session.

Although they had been engaged in debate for more than twelve hours, many laborites remained in their seats to prevent the government from effecting a parliamentary coup.

Debate upon the army force bill was begun after the Tory government of Bonar Law obtained its vote of confidence by a majority of more than 100 votes.

The laborites, led by Ramsay McDonald, laborite and official leader of the opposition on the floor, jumped gleefully into the fray. Their obstructionist tactics were confined to oratory. They did not attempt any "rough house" display such as caused a suspension of the session on Wednesday.

Many loquacious remarks were directed by the laborite speakers against the occupants of the government benches, who grew visibly sleepy as the night wore on.

Lengthy speeches were made and numerous amendments to the army air force bill were proposed. One member suggested an amendment abolishing capital punishment in the army.

The government "whips" were on the alert and a sufficient number of government supporters were kept in their seats to vote down the laborite amendments as quickly as they were advanced.

During the lull in debate, while voting was in progress, the laborites enlivened the occasion with song, but they did not offer any "revolutionary" music. Their favorite was "John Brown's Body."

The session grew into a test of strength between the government and the opposition but the majority of the government supporters held on and the laborites were unable to tire them out.

Shortly after 9 o'clock this morning Home Secretary W. C. Bridgman appealed for adjournment in order to enable the regular Friday session to open at 11 o'clock. He pointed out that, unless commons adjourned before 11 o'clock Friday, the official session could not be held.

"Oh, that is all right," shouted the laborites and they continued with their speech-making.

DECENT PAY FOR CLERGY BIG NEED

More Red-Blooded Men to Take Up Preaching If Wage Is Larger

OMAHA, April 13.—If the bishops of the Episcopal church surveyed their dioceses and paid the clergy a decent living wage there would be more red-blooded men among the clergy. Rev. C. N. Lathrop of New York, secretary of the social service department of the Episcopal church, said today at a conference of laymen and clergy of the church.

His statement was in reply to a speech made by Bishop E. V. Shayler of Nebraska, who said:

"Too many of the clergy are effeminate and are only effective as guests at afternoon teas and movie matinees. We need more real red-blooded men as clergymen who will appeal to the hero worship of full blooded American boys."

"Clergymen's wives are starved socially because they can't afford a decent bonnet," Rev. Lathrop said. "If the bishops will pay a decent living wage I will find them plenty of red blooded men to join the clergy."

Bryan Makes Plea

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 13.—Denouncing evolution as being contrary to the teachings of the Bible, William Jennings Bryan, addressing the West Virginia legislature here today, urged that teachers paid by taxation be NOT allowed to teach, under the guise of either science or philosophy anything that undermines faith in God, impairs belief in the Bible or discredits the son of God as a saviour of the world."

Bandit Admits Guilt In Slaying of Clerk

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Declaring he would plead guilty, Tony Smith, charged with the murder of Ernest Engdahl, clerk at the San Francisco Jewelry Company's store, whom he shot early last evening in a daring attempted hold-up, was to be arraigned today.

Traffic Officer J. J. Mahoney, who captured Smith as he attempted to escape the jewelry store following the shooting, was today commended by the police commission for bravery.

More than $100,000 worth of jewelry was in the cases when Smith ordered the proprietor and three clerks to throw up their hands. He planned to lock them in the safe, hang up the sign "closed," and leisurely loot the place. Engdahl made for the bandit and a second later fell dead, from a bullet through his head.

Husband Sees Slayer Of His Wife Hang

FLORENCE, Ariz., April 13.—With the husband of the woman he killed as a spectator, Paul W. Hadley, slayer of Mrs. Anna C. Johnson, and one of the most extraordinary criminals ever executed in the West, died on the gallows at the state penitentiary here today. Hadley's last glimpse at the world was the face of Peter Johnson, husband of the murdered woman.

Ida Hadley, wife of the executed man, whose love for him was a spectacular feature of his famous criminal career, who once went to the penitentiary in Oklahoma, was absent when the trap was pulled at 5:10 a. m. Hadley was declared dead at 5:22 a. m.

In 1916 Mrs. Hadley shot and killed W. G. Giles of Jefferson county, Texas, to aid her husband to escape from the train on which Giles was returning him to Texas to face a minor charge.

Clara Phillips 'Found' In Central America

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—Chief of Police Louis D. Oaks was awaiting word today from Guatemala, Central America, verifying a report he had from there last night that Clara Phillips, hammer murderess, who escaped from the county jail last December, was under surveillance in the southern city.

The message received by Chief Oaks was signed by "Sharp" and asked a minute description of the "hammer murderess." Chief Oaks explained the message as being from some official in Guatemala who had seen a woman that resembled Mrs. Phillips and wanted to make sure of the identification before taking decisive action.

PREVENTS SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—Running to the tracks of the Pacific Electric railway at Alison and Anderson streets early today, Kirk Latham of East Thirty-third street, placed his head on a rail just as a train was approaching and attempted to commit suicide.

Watchfulness of C. A. Huett, the motorman, averted the tragedy, by applying the brakes and bringing the car to a stop after the fender had just barely struck Latham's head.

Gives Temporary Injunction Over Parks' Purchase

THE restraining order from preventing the city of Glendale from making any more payments upon the purchase of the Verdugo Park and the municipal airport this morning was changed to a temporary injunction by Judge Arthur Keetch in the Superior court.

In view of the failure of the passage of the $49,000 bond issue for the purchase of the airport, no objection to the granting of the temporary injunction was made by City Attorney Hartley Shaw. He stated that the next step in the procedure probably would be a motion by Attorney John Everson of 103-A North Brand boulevard, who represents George A. Montgomery of 500 Kenneth road, that a hearing be granted on the issuance of a permanent injunction.

Offer Arguments in Dancer Death Trial

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 13.—Friday the 13th appeared to have no terrors for Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, on trial for the alleged murder of Fritzie Mann, beautiful interpreter of Oriental dances. The dashing young army physician entered the court room today, smiling and debonair, and looking spick and span in a snappy blue pencil striped suit.

Though it was possible that the jury might, before midnight of this day, believed by the superstitious to be laden with "bad luck," decide to send him to the gallows, the defendant radiated an air of supreme confidence.

Attorney Clifford K. Fitzgerald opened the argument for the defense this morning. He was scheduled to speak for two hours, and to be followed by Paul Schenck of Los Angeles, who achieved fame through his defense of Madyline Obenchain, Arthur Burch and others accused of crime in Los Angeles.

Charley Paddock May Not Compete Abroad

NEW YORK, April 13.—Charley Paddock, star sprinter and record holder, who is reported to be on his way here from the Pacific coast, preparatory to sailing for Paris, will not be allowed to compete abroad by the latest ruling of the Amateur Athletic Union, it is said by local authorities. Under the decision, as announced the A. A. U. will, refuse permission to all amateur athletes to go abroad for the purpose of competing in international games this summer.

An exception has been made in the case of the combined Harvard-Yale track teams, which will go to England for a dual meet with Oxford and Cambrilge in July.

Goes to His Death Upon 'Black Friday'

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—It was "black Friday" today for Ullah Mohammed in a death cell at San Quentin prison. EUROPE NOW FACES LONG GUERILLA WARFARE

Students of Situation See No Hope of Peace for Years to Come

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, April 13.—Europe faces years of guerilla warfare. This unhappy prediction is made by close students of the European situation who see no hopes of complete peace for many years to come. Some even less optimistic see another first class, grade A, full-bloom war. Whether or not another big war comes to Europe, it seems almost a certainty that guerilla warfare will go on for years. The Franco-German border probably will be the center of such hostilities.

As long as the French stay in the Ruhr, and present signs point to a lengthy stay—there will be isolated attacks upon the French by German individuals or bands of irregulars. Many observers believe that nationalistic Germans will form bands of irregulars who will constantly menace the French and that no matter what the Berlin government decrees, there will be constant clashes which will be bloody and disturbing to whatever forces are at work for permanent peace.

Even if the French retire, it is doubtful whether the spirit of animosity which has been aroused along the border lines can be repressed sufficiently to restrain overt acts on the part of deeply hating individuals.

Both Hands of Boy Cut Off in Accident

"Billy" Bergstrom, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bergstrom of 3528 Casitas avenue, had both hands cut off this morning while playing with some hoisting machinery near his home.

In a dazed condition he walked a block before he was picked up by a passing motorist and taken to the office of Dr. T. C. Young at 620 East Broadway. After first aid had been administered, the ambulance of Kiefer & Eyrick was summoned and he was taken to the Glendale Research Hospital.

All attempts to get in touch with the boy's parents this morning failed.

This motion was seconded by Councilman C. E. Kimlin and, after it had been explained that the money was available in the library fund, it was passed unanimously.

Daily HEALTH-AGAIN TALKS
By Dr. Otey

Do you know why the osteopath should not tell people about osteopathy? I don't. It seems to me that he is the logical source from which you should get your knowledge of osteopathy. Your knowledge of the vital truths of health, its attainment and maintenance is not complete till you know about osteopathy. Your health is a valuable asset, and you owe it to yourself to investigate its laws. Until you have a thorough knowledge of osteopathy we have neither of us done our duty. People often blame the climate, their work or other conditions for their poor health, when the cause is within themselves and could be removed by osteopathic measures. They often change about from one location to another, seeking health in a way that would be ludicrous if it were not so pathetic, for health must come from establishing better conditions within the body.

We don't censure the Dental Profession any more for teaching the public the value of prophylactic measures in dentistry. It was only the pioneers in the movement that received censure, and, since the Osteopaths do not carry on a concerted movement to educate the public to the tenets of Osteopathy, the task is left for the more aggressive individuals in the profession. Those who wish may sit idly (and ethically) by, and listen in while our imitators tell the public that the Osteopath only rubs, while they, our imitators, adjust; but, as for me, I have chosen a different course.

Educating the public is a tremendous undertaking, almost too much for one lifetime; but I refuse to rest till I have put the message of Osteopathy across to the people of Glendale. I am going to talk it to them till they are either convinced or unconscious.

Meet at Church

A company of eighty women gathered yeterday at the Baptist church for an all day meeting of the Women's Union. The day began with sewing for the White Cross, work being done in the four departments, hospital, quilts, layettes and miscellaneous. Mrs. J. S. Moody is the chairman in charge of this work, which is used for both home and foreign missionary work.

Mrs. Moody reported that $100 had been contributed for the work and that a sewing machine had been donated. She also announced that the first box of clothes made by the church women will soon be on its way to China.

The White Cross sewing occupied the time until lunch at 12:30 o'clock and the business session followed at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Park Arnold, newly elected president, presided over the business session and announced chairmen of the various committees and their assistants. She also called for reports on the past month's work.

Mrs. W. F. Wood led the devotions and Mrs. Sisley then presented the program on "China."

A real oriental atmosphere was produced by the use of Chinese lanterns and other oriental things.

Of particular interest to the women was the talk by Mrs. A. A. Page on her work in a mission school in Swacow, China.

Musical numbers were given by Mrs. Ray Bentley and Mrs. Paul Elliott.

A pink and yellow color scheme was carried out in the appointments for the dinner, tulips in these colors being the floral decoration of the table.

The engagement news was cleverly concealed under tiny rose buds on the place cards.

After a five-course dinner the guests were entertained by reading messages on candy hearts.

The guests were Doctor Lolita Flewelling, Mrs. Dennie Culver, Misses Buenna Gray, Helen Gettys, Dorothy Smith, Julia Cunningham and the honoree.

Central Avenue

Discussions of school and P.-T. A. finances were heard yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Central Avenue P.-T. A. at the school.

Mrs. A. A. Barton, member of the city school board, gave a most comprehensive outline of school finances, explaining where the money comes from and how it is spent. Her talk was based on the apportionment of school money by the state, county and district.

Equally as instructive was the talk by Mrs. H. V. Henry on P.-T. A. finances. Each P.-T. A. member pays 35 cents a year dues. Of this amount 15 cents goes to the local P.-T. A. and the remaining 20 cents to the district, state and national organizations and towards a scholarship fund.

In the room count Miss Taylor's third grade had the most mothers present, and won the honor basket filled with tulips.

Selections were given by the high school mixed quartet, accompanied by Mrs. John Cole.

Another feature was the exhibit of pictures by T. L. Hunt from the Stendahl galleries, showing scenes on the Gloucester coast.

Mrs. E. S. Dodds, secretary, is to serve on the nominating committee for the Glendale P.-T. A. federation.

The Central Avenue organization is to have thirteen delegates and three alternates at the First District convention in Los Angeles, April 26 and 27.

At noon yesterday the room mothers entertained the teachers and members of the board at luncheon.

Wed In Santa Ana

They continued their motor trip to San Diego where they will spend a few days, planning to return here the first of the week.

TUJUNGA

Real Estate Market At Tujunga Active; List Of Recent Sales; Build Homes

WITH the approach of summer the always active Tujunga real estate market takes on an added impetus. Many new tracts are being subdivided and placed on the market. Realtors report gratifying results from their sales campaigns.

Not only are the lots selling well, but from the building going on it would appear that they are not acquired merely as an investment, but for homesites, where the city man may escape the oppression of the greedy landlord. Although building permits for apartments and dwellings are shattering all records, the housing situation is still acute and many foresighted business men in the city are solving the problem by buying a lot and building a home of their own. The terms on which these lots are sold leave no excuse for the man who desires a home, but says he has not the money to buy. Some lots are sold for as low as ten dollars down and five dollars per month.

Teams are at work and clouds of smoke in different parts of Tujunga readily indicate tracts that are being cleared and the brush burned off.

Once Ranch Property

One of the most popular tracts with the buyers has been the Hillhaven subdivision, placed on the market by the California Home Extension Company. This tract constitutes part of the old Talamantes ranch and lies just east of Mt. McGroarty in the low hills which are served by an excellent wide gravel road from the main highway, offering a wonderful view of the whole valley.

The terms of purchase in this tract are exceptionally attractive, offering two lots for the price of one, with nothing down and nothing on the principal for twenty years, with the proviso that the owner build a dwelling of not less than $1200 value. To the man who plans to build, this could certainly not be construed as prohibitive.

Thus, he can build on one lot, and, as all his neighbors do the same, the property becomes much more valuable, and he can sell the other lot in time at a price that will cover the original investment, giving him a home practically free. Many attractive homes have already been built and more are under construction. Some have been built by contract, but the popular way is for the owners to unite in building each other's houses during week-ends and holidays. Every Saturday and Sunday there are parties with lumber, blankets and lunch, combining work with pleasure, or rather making the work a pleasure, and spending part of the time picnicking and enjoying the accommodations of the glen nearby in which is located an amphitheater and stone ovens.

List of Buyers

The following list of buyers in this tract alone gives an idea of the success of the colony: Marion Wood of 820 South Verdugo road, Glendale; Francis R. and Mabel G. Adair, M. H. Baringer, A. N. and Lillian R. Beamon, May Z. Cassidy, C. R. Gallagher, Llewellyn George, Mark Holmes, James M. Johnson, W. A. Lake, H. H. Lonberger, Mary Lovegrove, of New York state; Anna L. Manson Irene McFarland, Harry and O. N. Pauzran, Raymond L. Perkins, Martha C. Petersen, E. N. Poag, J. H. Sheridan, Isabel Smith and Phoebe P. Zittle, Fannie Todd Walker, Paul E. Girvin, Grace Wilson, J. Cammer, Gerald G. Swain and Florence E. Swain, Harold Vore, Wm. E. Niendorf, R. B. Remert, and Belmonia B. Hibbard, George E. Wright, Jean K. Brubeck and Harry N. Lockwood, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. C. Ellis of Long Beach, S. Bounds of Arizona, George H. Hill of Alhambra, Maurice Green of Hollywood, Florence Hunt and Grace Averill of South Pasadena, Marie Catherine Hoysradt of Memphis, Tenn.; Miss Elizabeth McKean of Eagle Rock, Mrs. L S. Perkins of South Pasadena, James M. Singer of Moneta, Curtis C. Thompson of Arcadia, J. M. Reeder of Huntington Park, John A. Lundberg of Pasadena, J. O'Neal Farrell of Glendale, W S. Howard of Hermosa, Hubert Virginia Smith, W. L. Bobo. Grunstead of Monterey Park, Dr. Thomas R. Davies, Mrs. Arthur Benjamin, Charles G. Baker, all of Tujunga; Henry H. Haven of Inglewood, A. Campbell of Huntington Park, John A. Edgar of Pasadena, and Lloyd W. Fellows of San Fernando.

The Wright and O'Rourke tract, adjoining the Garden of the Moon on Michigan Avenue is to be subdivided. Mr. Leo Smith is supervising this work. The tract comprises about thirty acres along the State Highway, (Michigan Avenue) between Pine street and Sunset Boulevard. This will make available a number of very desirable lots and it is probable that Los Robles Avenue will be extended to serve the tract, joining Michigan avenue west of Sunset.

Realty Board

The Tujunga Valley Realty Board is an organization that has done much to promote harmonious co-operation among the realtors and the prosperity of the valley in general. This board takes an active interest in all local problems and one of their recent efforts to better conditions was a resolution at a meeting by Major P. J. Blake proposing a new state law to permit a cheaper class of improvement in streets than is at present allowed.

Major Blake's resolution called attention to the fact that in young communities where street improvement is of vast importance, the other expenses are usually so heavy that the cost of permanent grading of street and constructing curbs and gutters is very often prohibitive, with the result that the streets are often neglected for lack of funds. Major Blake's plan is to allow the surface of streets on the natural level and applying oil and sand as a temporary measure until funds are available for permanent construction work.

The resolution was adopted and a committee appointed to place the matter before the state legislature.

The Verdugo Hills Realty company is another that has recently offered for sale a tract on Day street.

The Southern California Edison company has been making extensive improvements to meet the increased demands for electric service in Tujunga Valley. A new line of poles has been set and more cable strung to carry the much desired current. Where a short time ago kerosene lamps were furnishing a large proportion of the illumination in the homes, there are very few now that have not been wired for electricity.

Grant's Grocery, 521 East Monte Vista Boulevard, just lately finished an addition to the storeroom at the rear and is now building an addition to the front. This is in the form of a large porch, finished with a stone wall and the roof supported by four stone pillars. The store was formerly operated by Mr. Jenkins.

That arts and crafts also have a prominent place in Tujunga life is evidenced by the interest taken in the work of Mrs. Laura Sweet and others in all branches of art and music.

There are many who are specialists in their line. Beaten brass and copper work, wood work, drawing and painting, inlay work and beading of a superior grade is done. There are also several successful writers who find inspiration in these hills for their work.

'My Radio Girl,' a popular song, was written by a Tujunga man, Mr. J. E. Smith.

With the hope that they may be able to establish an academy of Fine Arts, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barry bought three lots on the corner of Manzanita and Palm Avenue. Mr. Barry is a scenic photographer and maintained a studio in Big Bear valley for ten years. They hope to establish what will become one of the art centers of Southern California. Mrs. Barry is president of the Tujunga Women's Club.

Mr. Perronnet, owner of the new motion picture theatre, has announced that the chairs which were delayed by snowstorms and consequently delayed the opening of his theatre last week, have arrived and he will open this Saturday night with Reginald Denny in 'The Kentucky Derby,' as announced last week.

'Necks' to Be Theme Of Evangelist Jeter

Evangelist Jerry Jeter promises to hit the line hard tonight, at his tabernacle on the corner of East Broadway and Cedar, when he speaks on "Necks, hard necks, stiff necks, necks with millstones about them, necks with yokes on them, rubber necks, rough necks, and all sorts of necks."

The Bible has much to say about necks, and many will no doubt be wondering what Evangelist Jeter has to say about them.

Tonight's talk, as usual, will be at 7:30 o'clock and will be preceded Mrs. Jeter's usual brief address on "How to Become a Christian."

R. L. COLE STARTS NEW "TRADE-IN" CAMPAIGN

GLENDALE JEWELER WITH A NEW IDEA

R. L. Cole, Glendale Jeweler, at 106 East Broadway, has introduced a unique feature in the merchandising of watches, clocks, jewelry and silverware.

Thousands of people have old, out of date jewelry, watches and clocks that they would gladly exchange for more up to date things of this kind if given the opportunity, and the assurance that they would receive fair treatment and full value.

Mr. Cole figures that if automobiles can be sold this way, there is no reason why the same method cannot be applied to the jewelry business, consequently has inaugurated a "Trade In" campaign, and, for the next few weeks, is offering a liberal allowance on a new, up to date watch or something new in silverware, clocks or jewelry for your old.

There's Enough Talent in this Town for Several Buescher Bands

61-D

There is a great amount of latent musical ability in this city that should be expressing itself through the medium of

BUESCHER

Band Instruments

They are unquestionably the finest musical instruments produced in America today, used and recommended by most of the great musicians of the country. They are used to make fully 75% of the popular musical phonograph records.

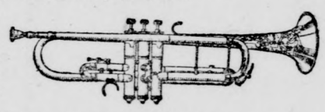
Waring's Pennsylvanians

Who Have Been Playing at the Glendale Theatre All Week

Are 100% Buescher

Buescher True-Tone Saxophones are rich, incisive and very sonorous in tone quality, and possess a volume unequalled. In scale they are accuracy itself. The key actions and entire "lay" of the keys offer the greatest facility and convenience in fingering. They are used by 75% of the Vaudeville and Lyceum Saxophonists.

The Buescher-Grand Trumpet is an entirely new model, with improved bore and new proportions. Meets the requirements of those who desire extremely brilliant, snappy penetrating tones. It will meet every demand, from the martial flourish to the tender love song.



The Buescher-Grand Cornet is exceptionally easy to blow, yet possesses a tone of wonderful volume. If you expect to learn to play a Cornet, you should by all means have a good instrument. With a Buescher-Grand, you own an instrument similar to that with which the greatest cornetists of America made their reputations.

Get your Buescher Sax, Cornet, Trumpet, Trombone or other Band or Orchestra Instrument this week and pay for it gradually—as convenient. Call for a free copy of a very complete and interesting Saxophone booklet—"The Origin of the Saxophone"—or a catalog of the complete line of Buescher Band Instruments.

CLUB WILL SING TWENTY NUMBERS

Orpheus Vocalists to Stage Varied Bill Tomorrow at Clubhouse

The Orpheus Club of Los Angeles, which is regarded as one of the foremost choral organizations in the United States, tomorrow night will give a concert in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse under the auspices of the Glendale Kiwanis club.

"In bringing the Orpheus Club to Glendale we feel that we are doing something for the community which will be appreciated," this morning remarked A. L. Ferguson, pesident of the local Kiwanis Club. "Many music-lovers of this vicinity make it a regular practice to attend this organization's concerts in Los Angeles. They regard tomorrow night's concert at their very doorsteps as, indeed, a treat."

M. B. Towman of 248 South Brand boulevard, business manager for the concert, stated this morning that less than a hundred tickets remained unsold. He added that these are selling rapidly. They are on sale at the branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California at 248 South Brand boulevard, at Roberts & Echols Drug Store, 102 East Broadway, and at the Glendale Pharmacy, 638 East Broadway. The house is expected to be sold out before the concert.

O. W. Andresen of 360 Myrtle street, music director for the Kiwanis Club and also a member of the Orpheus Club, states that the program which is to be given here has been unusually successful and well received at previous concerts.

Orpheus Four Coming

The Orpheus Four, which recently returned from a national concert tour, will not only sing with the chorus but will sing two groups of songs. Its members are Samuel Glass, tenor, Paul Adams, second tenor, V. A. Campbell, baritone, and H. M. Dudley, bass. Raymond McFeeters, a pianist of note who will accompany them, will play Liszt's "Rhapsody No. 12."

Solos on the program will include "Ah, Moon of My Delight" from "In a Persian Garden" by William E. Ooley, lyric tenor, and "On the Road to Mandalay" by Tracy Cheatham, baritone. There will also be encores.

The Orpheus Club will sing "A Bedouin Love Song" by Arthur Foote, "An Autumn Lament" by R. H. Woodman, "Katy Did" by C. B. Hawley, "The Rosary" by Ethelbert Nevin, "Cato's Advice" by Bruno Huhn, "De Coppah Moon" by H. R. Shelley, "In the Night" by Ludwig, "The Brownies" by Franco Leoni and "The Soldiers' Chorus" from "Faust" by Gounod. Altogether the concert will include about twenty numbers.

DAMAGED

WINS M'CORMICK'S O. K. FOR WEDDING

Legal Document Gives Oser Permission to Marry Oil Heiress

By HARRY FLOREY
For International News Service

BASLE, Switzerland, April 13.—Major Max Oser, the middle-aged Swiss riding instructor, who is engaged to Miss Mathilde McCormick, 18-year-old granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, is carrying in his pocket a sworn legal document signed by Harold F. McCormick, of Chicago, the girl's father, consenting to her marriage to Oser, according to an exclusive statement made to International News Service today by William Christ, Major Oser's closest friend.

Christ's statement has deepened the mystery about the romance of the pretty young American girl and her Swiss lover, who is old enough to be her father.

It had been reported that Mathilde and her traveling companion, Miss Julia Mangold, had spent the winter in London, waiting patiently until Miss McCormick should become of age so she could marry without the need of parental consent. She attained her 18th birthday last Saturday.

One of the many rumors circulated is that Miss McCormick and Major Oser were really married several months ago and are now traveling about Europe on their honeymoon.

Christ said he did not believe that Oser is in Switzerland.

Hero Has the Papers

"As a matter of fact," said Christ, "there was no necessity for waiting until Miss McCormick was 18 years old. For several months Major Oser has had in his possession all the papers necessary for a Swiss marriage. These included a written consent from Harold F. McCormick, the girl's father, who is a wealthy manufacturer of Chicago. There was also a statement as to the time and place of Miss McCormick's birth, sworn to by the physician who attended Mrs. McCormick, the mother."

Christ explained that, in view of Oser's dislike of publicity and society and because there is much less red tape connected with an English marriage than one in Switzerland, it is possible the nuptials may be held in England after all.

Exhaustive inquiry at Basle, Lucerne and Zurich have failed to reveal the whereabouts of Miss McCormick, although it is understood she left London for Switzerland several days ago.

Badge Bandit Sought In Shooting Affray

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—Police are hunting for the mysterious criminal, known only as the "badge bandit," from his habit of displaying what appears to be a policeman's badge and then holding up and robbing his victims, and who shot and perhaps fatally wounded Charles Suits.

Officers said Suits admitted he was a married man, and that his wife is in a delicate condition. At the tme of the holdup and shooting Suits was in company with Miss Pattie Campbell, and they were seated in an automobile at Main and One Hundred and Twentieth streets, the police say.

Displaying a badge, the bandit told Suits he was an officer, according to Suits's story to the police, and then ordered him to get out of the machine. Suits said the shooting followed remarks by the bandit about his presence with "another woman."

MONTROSE

EAST PROSPEROUS SAYS F. B. TURNER

Business Good, Everybody Is Busy, Report Brought By Realty Man

Business conditions in the east are very good, according to Frank B. Turner of 736 Ocean View avenue, Montrose, member of the realty firm of Turner & Carson, who returned Monday from a trip to the Atlantic coast.

"When we find conditions good in the east," remarked Mr. Turner, "it looks good for this end of the world.

"I thought there were some big subdividers out here but real estate is being subdivided all over the country—wherever the property can be obtained."

According to Mr. Turner, common laborers in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, are being paid 80 cents an hour and are hard to find.

"At Jersey City I found they were paying bricklayers $15 a day," he reported. "Business is good.

"At Dayton, which was my home for six years, I found business conditions fine. Everybody seemed to be busy. There were very few men idle. There was plenty of building going on.

"Business conditions in Chicago were very good. A number of big apartment houses are going up."

Addition to Garage

William Evans expects to have the new addition to the rear of his garage at 610 East Honolulu avenue ready for occupancy by the first of next week. This is thirty by fifty feet in size. The present size of his establishment is thirty by thirty feet, so that the floor space of his garage is being more than doubled. A large part of the new addition will be used as a work room. It will have an entrance from the west side of the building.

Beside doing a general garage business, Mr. Evans has the agency for the Moon and Chevrolet.

John Iverson, who recently established a shoe repair shop on the front of his lot at 550 East Honolulu avenue, Montrose, reports that business is quite satisfactory.

Before moving to Montrose, Mr. Iverson was employed at 114 East Broadway, Glendale, in the Modern Shoe Repair Shop. He came to California three years ago from Minneapolis.

"I am more than satisfied," remarked Mr. Iverson. "I figure that this district will grow and my property here will increase in value."

Sell Four Lots

Turner & Carson, realtors of Montrose, report the sale of four lots recently to Mrs. Kate Mondon of 415 East Dryden street. The property is located in Tract 1701, Montrose. Before the deal had scarcely been concluded one of the lots had been resold to I. M. Moore of 177 Annandale drive, Los Angeles.

Bricks are now being applied to the second story of C. J. Reinhard's new grocery building at 635 East Honolulu avenue.

BURBANK

PUPILS PRESENT BRILLIANT PLAY

'The Charm School' Pleases Big Audience at High School

"A brilliant success and a sure cure for the blues!" was the verdict passed by Burbank on the senior play, 'The Charm School," given last night at the high school auditorium.

The play is the same one that had a long run on Broadway, New York, and that the late Wallie Reid starred in as a movie. It was well presented and well attended and sets a new record for amateur theatricals in this city.

The high school orchestra furnished the music.

The following is the cast of characters and parts played:

Austin Bevans	Lyman Koppes
Homer Johns	Tom Walker
Miss Hays	Monzella Roach
Elsie Benedotti	Eun Emerson
David	Fred Bradshaw
George	Ralph Foster
Joe Simpkins	Howard Wilson
Tim Simpkins	Reynolds Packard
Muriel	Elsie Smith
Sallie	Fay Williams
Ethel	Helen Jones
Lillian	Pauline Allen
Cecilia	Marie O'Donnell
Dotsie	Edna Benton
Charlotte	Ellen Hursch
Alix	Doris Hench

Contest for $1500 Prize

An oratorical contest for high stakes was held this morning in the high school auditorium, when seven local students met in a debating competition to select a candidate for the semi-final contest to be held April 24, in Santa Monica, when winners from Venice, Inglewood, Santa Monica, Redondo and Compton, besides Burbank, will clash silvery tongues, the winner of the Santa Monica contest to be eligible for the finals, held in Los Angeles, May 11, when the winner will receive a prize of $1500 cash or a trip to Europe.

The local contestants who met this morning are Misses Frances Mason, Thelma Gibbs, Virginia Hare, Blanch Bennett and Wardsworth Viney, Charles Weber and William Hammer.

The winner will be announced at a later date.

The list of subjects open for choice all related in some way or another to the constitution of the United States, interest in and respect for which is the great object back of the contest, open to all high schools of Southern California.

All the local contestants gave a good account of themselves, before an audience that packed the auditorium.

Ball Team Forming

Under the management of Allen Barton, a ball team is being formed in Burbank to represent the city in the Valley league, in which there are already teams from Glendale, Lankershim, Owensmouth, Van Nuys, San Fernando, Newhall and the M. W. A. of Pasadena.

Organization of this team is largely the result of the enthusiasm of Leslie Taylor, vice-president of the Southern California Baseball Managers' association and manager of the Van Nuys team. Mr. Taylor has made several visits to Burbank for the purpose of getting this city into the league, and has been instrumental in pointing out to business men and residents the advantage that will accrue.

Manager Barton of the Burbank nine is highly enthusiastic over the way plans are shaping up and says there will be no difficulty in obtaining first-class material, and that he feels confident he can work his outfuit up into as good a team as there is in the valley.

An athletic field is being considered and a tract of several acres has been offered by R. O. Church, and $200 that was raised on an incomplete automobile raffle in Burbank two years ago is being sought as part of the initial fund with which to equip the team and purchase material.

Postoffice Business Grows

Postmaster Coffman states that if the present rate of increase continues, the Burbank postoffice will be in the first class by July, 1925.

Receipts for the quarter ending March 31, 1923, are given as $5934.37, an increase of 55 per cent over the same period of a year ago, when receipts were $3833.68.

A gain of 50 per cent is shown for the year 1922, the postmaster states, total receipts for that year being $19,174.99. Should the same ratio hold good for the next two years, receipts would rise to the $40,000 mark necessary for the establishment of a postoffice of the first class.

Mr. Coffman states that allowances for help have not kept pace with increase of revenue, and that he is at a loss to know how he is going to operate the office on the proposed allowance, unless some arrangement can be made to increase the length of days to more than twenty-four hours.

Illicit Whisky Found in Farmer's Milk Cans

WARE, Mass., April 13.—Five gallons of moonshine liquor, concealed in milk cans, were seized from a milk cart by police, and John Pubgalski, a farmer, was arrested. Search of the farm where Pubgalski lives resulted in the discovery of a large still in operation and large quantities of liquor.

PRIZES WILL BE GIVEN TO POETS

Mayor and Club Leader to Present Awards at Legion's Show

The Glendale Community Players have the pleasure of announcing that Mrs. Mattison B. Jones and Mayor Spencer Robinson have graciously consented to present the prizes to the winners of the Parody Verse Contest next week on April 19 and 20, when the "Fun Revue" will be presented at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Mrs. Jones will present two of the prizes from the stage on Thursday night and Mayor Robinson will present the other two prizes on Friday night.

In addition to the assistance of these two well-known Glendale citizens, four prominent men have alson consented to act as ushers, Colonel James W. Everington, Dr. Wm. C. Mabry, Dwight W. Stephenson and Robert Plume.

The Community Players are producing this musical comedy as a benefit for the Glendale American Legion building fund, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse auditorium, on the evenings of April 19 and 20.

Poets Pour Parodies Into Contest Hopper

The parody contest is open to everybody. Send in your verses at once to the Contest Editor, The Glendale Evening News, care of the Community Players. The following parody verses on "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean" were submitted by Harry A. James:

Oh, Mr. Gallagher, oh, Mr. Gallagher,
Those Glendale warriors are feeling pretty good.
They are going to build a home,
So they will not have to roam—
The people voted, tho I didn't think they would.

Oh, Mr. Shean, oh, Mr. Shean,
You'd be surprised at what I've seen—
The government gave them grub,
But it was common, that's the rub.
Maybe it was doughnuts, Mr. Gallagher?
No, just the hole in the doughnut, Mr. Shean.

Oh, Mr. Gallagher, oh, Mr. Gallagher,
Did you know Mayor Robinson went on high?
He rode up in a plane,
Not expecting to come down again.
But he reached the ground and heaved a sigh.

Oh, Mr. Shean, oh, Mr. Shean,
I know where Spencer Robinson had been;
He went up in that plane
Just to look for some rain—
Did he find it, Mr. Gallagher?
No, he found moonshine, Mr. Shean.

SCORES ARRESTED

COPENHAGEN, April 13—One hundred and fifty persons have been arrested in Moscow in an anti-soviet plot, said a dispatch from Helsingfors today. A secret arms depot was seized. Soviet government employes are said to be implicated.

ARCHITECT SHOWS PLANS FOR HOTEL

Advancement Association at Luncheon Discusses Proposed Building

Plans for the proposed five story $400,000 Class A building for the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway were explained yesterday noon at 201 East Harvard street at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Advancement association.

Architect Arthur G. Lindley of 123 South Belmont street exhibited both floor plans and a colored perspective of the proposed new hotel.

This building can be completed within a year, according to Mr. Lindley. He stated that it would require two months to complete the working specifications, another month to receive bids and from six to eight months for actual construction work.

"The estimated cost is $400,000 or a little less," he remarked. "That is liable to fluctuate somewhat. That is taking into consideration the recent rise in steel but there can't any of us be prophets enough."

Ornamental Lights

The question of street lights was the next one brought up for consideration.

City Manager W. H. Reeves reported that payment for the maintenance of ornamental street lighting out of general taxation would cost $30,000 this year. He predicted that this expense would soon increase.

S. C. Kinch of 328 North Brand boulevard expressed his opinion that the ornamental lights on Brand boulevard have done a great deal to advertise Glendale. He recommended that the lighting of East Broadway by new ornamental lights should be taken up at once. Attention was called to the fact that Dr. Henry R. Harrower, chairman of this committee is now in Europe.

Peter Ferry of 614 East Acacia avenue suggested that the organization should go on record in favor of a six-inch concrete paving for Glendale avenue. H. L. Finlay of 330 West Doran street, R. M. Brown of 106 South Glendale avene and J. F. Chandler of 420 South Brand boulevard all suggested that the decision should be deferred until the committee had time to further investigate the merits of different types of paving.

In the absence of C. W. Ingledue, president of the organization. Charles F. Stuart of 638 East Broadway, presided.

LONG BEACH IS LAUDED IN POEM

Nebraska Climate Is Theme Of Comparison With Southern Warmth

C. L. Brown of 213 North Louise street, brings to the office of The Glendale Evening news a copy of the Albion Weekly News, which is published at Albion, Boone Co., Neb., in which is a copy of the following poem:

TO VAN (MOORHEAD)

I thought I'd write a line today
And tell you what I have to say.
Your snow was deep on Tuesday night,
And Wednesday morning was a fright;
It snowed and blowed to beat the band
Until you had your peck of sand.

You shoveled till your hands were sore,
But still it blowed and snowed some more.
I picture you with face most froze,
Icicles hanging round your nose;
Your old oil stoves refused to heat,
The chickens would not lay nor eat.

When at last the storm was o'er,
Then Van, himself, was awful sore.
He wished he was beside the sea,
Out where the summer breezes be;
And said I'll never write again
Such unkind things about a friend.

For just as sure as this I do,
The weather takes a hand with you.
You're wading drifts and shoveling coal,
(Confess it's good for your old soul.)
And I'll forgive you what you wrote,
Since weather man has got your goat.

Come out beside the silver sea
And take a boat along with me.
With bone for bait and fishing pole
Forget about your shoveling coal,
So, when you land a monster fish,
For coons again you'll never wish.

Shed that red flannel suit for life
Forget your grouch and all your strife.
Eat peas and greens and lettuce head,
And then you'll wish you'd never said
An unkind thing about Long Beach,
You'd have to say—"She's a Peach."

Governor to Demand Secrets From Colony

LANSING, Mich., April 13.—The number of unmarried women in the House of David colony, disposal of dead members' bodies and other innermost secrets of the colony of Israelites at Benton Harbor, were questions Governor Alex Broesbeck has asked state agencies to learn. Appointment of a receiver for the colony probably will be asked for by the state, it was learned.

"My purpose is to find out what people do at that colony, for it is one of my duties as an officer of this state, and you can take it from me, I am going to find out," the governor declared.

Fatal Auto Crashes Cause N. Y. to Act

NEW YORK, April 13.—Five deaths in New York City in the last twenty-four hours, due directly to automobile accidents, have spurred authorities to renewed efforts to minimize the speeding auto menace. Figures showed that during March thirty persons were killed and 143 injured by automobiles in the streets of New York.

Included in the death list of the last twenty-four hours was Thom[illegible] F. Smith, secretary of Tam[illegible] all and one of the most [illegible] known politicians i[illegible] He was run down b[illegible]

Demand for Sweets Causes Sugar Rise?

LONDON, April 13.—Prohibition, strangely enough, is reacting curiously on the British housewife. Recently at the grocery stores she was informed that she would have to pay a penny more a pound for her sugar. Her indignant "Why?" was answered with a shrug. "It's the Americans."

The grocer was merely quoting the words of the sugar brokers of Mark Lane. They are charging a dollar and a half more a hundredweight and give as a reason that prohibition in America has so increased the American demand for sugar that the supply is far less than the demand, and so up goes the price.

A year ago, the sugar brokers assert, the consumption of sugar in America was eighty-seven pounds per head of the population, whereas now it is 103 pounds and likely to increase week by week. Indubitably the experts say that teetotalism creates a craving for candy. In Scotland, in the "dry" districts, the sale of candy is thrice that of the "wet" districts.

The price of sugar is likely to increase still more. for reports from the sugar beet growing districts of France and Germany show that the crops this year, owing to the weather, will be a third less than in normal times.

Many Germans Tired Of 'Waiting' Policy

BERLIN, April 13.—There are gathering indications that many Germans have begun to tire of the government's waiting game in the Ruhr. Several cabinet members are reported to be convinced that the time has come for Germany to make proposals of a settlement. It is unlikely any step will be taken until after the Reichstag begins consideration of the budget next week.

If proposals be made it is most likely they will be directed to all the allied powers interested in reparations. Request for a foreign loan will be included in any proposals made by Germany.

Three Officials Are Fired From Jobs

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—Three of the highest officials in the state department of agriculture were ousted by Governor Richardson's agricultural council with the approval of the governor. The discharged officials are:

W. S. Killingsworth, state horticultural commissioner, salary $3300.

Robert C. Melvin, state director of weights and measures, salary $4000.

J. C. Jackley, assistant chief of the division of animal industry, salary $3000.

Titanium Very Little Known But Is Useful

WASHINGTON, April 13. — Ask the average layman what titanium is and the probabilities are he will stare at you blankly a moment and wave his head negatively. Yet titanium is the ninth most abundant element in the solid crust of the earth and, according to the United States Bureau of Mines, enters into the manufacture of many diverse materials ranging from gas mantels to armor plate and from false teeth to smoke screens used for concealment purposes in modern warfare.

U. S. Interested

Few elements have been accorded more attention by the bureau and developed greater interest in the past decade than titanium. The substantially pure metal has been difficult to isolate and thus far has been little employed commercially, but the use of alloys and chemical compounds of titanium has increased notably in recent years.

Substantially pure titanium has a silvery white color, like that of polished steel. It is hard and brittle when cold, but at a low, red heat is malleable and can be forged readily like iron.

Titanium and certain of its compounds are important factors in the manufacture of arc-lamp electrodes, filaments of incandescent lights and gas mantels. For use in the dyeing industry it was exploited first in England. Certain of the titanium salts are powerful mordants which produce brilliant and stable colors. Salts of titanium have been used also in dyeing shoe leather and do not embrittle the leather, as do salts of iron.

Rutile, or titanium dioxide is used for coloring glazes for pottery and enamels. A little rutile has been employed in making glass. The mineral also finds application in making artificial teeth to produce the color required for matching.

NO PROTEST RECEIVED

WASHINGTON, April 13. — The United States has received no protest from France against the Chester oil and railroad concession in Turkey, it was learned officially at the state department. The advices reaching the department on the matter have been confirmory of the protest made to the Turks by the French representative at Constantinople.

What College Professors Tell About Our Sweet Cream Butter

CLOVER GLEN BUTTER is absolutely pure — made of Sweet Cream — fresh, clean and free from all impurities.

Not a drop of rancid cream ever enters the making of CLOVER GLEN butter. The slightest mixture of any but the purest cream would immediately destroy the high quality and natural flavor of this exceptional butter.

Of course, this exacting standard of pure-food manufacture adopted by the CLOVER GLEN creamery is a great source of effort and expense. Competitive conditions did not force us to do this; because it is the usual practice to mix over-sour creams with alkali in order to produce a neutralized butter—the ordinary butter you eat.

And we often asked ourselves this question: "After all, was this extra zeal in CLOVER GLEN production actually justified?" We did not charge the trade a penny more for this pure butter.

We Wrote to Many Colleges

So we wrote to dozens of university dairy authorities throughout the country and asked their opinion.

We received a great many letters in reply, each carefully weighed and measured in scholarly expression of opinion. None of these authorities knew what the other thought; each answered separately, and some even disagreed.

But all of these butter-experts agreed on this one point:

"Pure sweet cream butter is more appetizing—has better quality — a better flavor — than the ordinary neutralized butter."

One Authority Says: "Advertise!"

And one agricultural authority in the Northwest adds this comment:

"In case a creamery is making butter from a good quality cream and is not using a neutralizer—it would be to their advantage to advertise the butter as made from a good quality cream without the use of a neutralizer."

These are the words of a university authority who studies the food problem not from the point of view of selfish profit. He speaks the words of unselfish public service.

On this advice, we advertise this fact to the Southern California public:

What Is Sweet Cream Butter?

It is butter made of Sweet Cream separated from the fresh Whole Milk right in the Creamery. Therefore, it is pure and fragrant — and reaches you just as Nature makes it.

Neutralized butter is the other kind, made of Over-Sour Cream, to which is added alkali in order to improve.

To be sure, ask your grocer to guarantee your butter to be Sweet Cream butter, and not neutralized. He can do this by telephoning the Butter Company right in your presence if you insist.

Or you can ask for CLOVER GLEN BUTTER, which we guarantee to be pure Sweet Cream Butter. It has a natural appetizing flavor you will enjoy.

Clover Glen is a Natural Pure Butter You can mark the quality by the aroma of freshness lingering in the package. Only the purest butter radiates this clean, wholesome flavor.

EAGLE ROCK

Eagle Rock Woman Is Candidate For Congress; Noted For School Work

SINGULAR honor has come to one of Eagle Rock's daughters with the selection of Msis Lloy Galpin, of 314 West Adams avenue, to run for representative in congress from the Tenth district, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman Osborne.

Miss Galpin is a graduate of the University of California, Berkeley, and has been for nearly twenty years a teacher in the Los Angeles High school.

Miss Galpin, in her candidacy for the office, is understood to carry the endorsement of the club women of Southern California. Several prominent men are in the race against Miss Galpin.

Big Legion Affair

Interest in Eagle Rock is beginning to center on the big celebration to be held in Los Angeles, the night of April 18, by La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, in honor of all Legionaires of the county.

The Union League club, 255 South Hill street, Los Angeles, will be the headquarters of the big affair, and every legionnaire of Eagle Rock city is expected to be present. Membership cards will admit "buddies" free, is the good news being circulated, and an especial glad hand will be held out for representatives of Theodore C. Koethen Post No. 227.

Sid Grauman and Alexander Pantages are understood to have the largest galaxy of stars and entertainers ever assembled for an ex-service men's entertainment, and Mr. Grauman will personally direct the entire company.

Many high-up officials of the Forty-Eight will attend the festivity, it is understood, among them the National Sons Chemin de Fer, Clarence Cronkite; Grande Chef de Gare of the Los Angeles county Voiture, No. 47. In addition, all American Legion commanders and officers of every post within the jurisdiction will be on hand.

Sheriff "Bill" Traeger, one of the most popular of the 40-8 members, will be official guard of the occasion, to see that only World War vets. gain admisson.

Other Coming Events

Occidental college will be the host this week to the high school students of Southern California. The big day is Saturday, April 14.

Tom Mix and fifteen of his riders will be the feature of the morning program, riding "daredevil," doing lasso stunts, shooting and otherwise conducting a thorough-going, old-fashioned rodeo, by golly! And none other than Tom's own favorite horse, Tony, will be on the scene. Tony, by the way, is SOME horse—at least the insurance companies think so, and they ought to know. Tony is covered by $50,000 insurance.

In the afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock, there will be a large track meet. As Mix is also an athlete, being fast at the 100-yard dash and lofty on the high jump, plenty of fun is assured.

A barbecue will follow the meet. The general public will be admitted to both rodeo and track meet. Tickets can be secured at the high school.

Club Luncheon

On Thursday, April 19, the Woman's Twentieth Century club will give a luncheon, followed by a card party, by one of the committees in charge of promoting the $1000 fund.

All members and friends are invited, and are requested to come and enjoy the social side of the club's work, thereby helping to cut down the amount needed to complete this fund.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Arthur Doucette, Garvanza 5307, or Mrs. Hal Baly, Garvanza 234.

In connection with the work of the Women's Twentieth Century club, it is understood that the dramatic section of this club is planning the presentation of a play in the near future and is anxious to line up talent. Mrs. J. B. Squire is chairman of the section and Mrs. Van Lee Hood, secretary, either of whom will be glad to furnish particulars. Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer, the talented director who is in charge of Eagle Rock's Community Players, will have charge of the production.

The regular monthly meeting of the Southern California Premillennial Prophetic association is scheduled for Monday afternoon, April 16, 3:30 o'clock at the Bible Institute building, 536 South Hope street, Los Angeles.

Dr. Cortland Myers will be the speaker and will talk on "A Thunder-Tone Call for America and the Rest of the World."

Evangelist C. S. Prout

That all roads do not lead to heaven but only one road, which is "the straight and narrow" way of obedience to God's requirements, was affirmed by Evangelist C. S. Prout, Wednesday night, April 11, to an audience that filled the Seventh-Day Adventist tabernacle on Myrtle avenue.

Evangelist Prout's address was in keeping with his announcement that he would refute the widely-advertised slogan, "Millions Now Living Will Never Die."

"We can enter heaven only through the door of the sheepfold," the speaker pointed out, "and that door is Christ. Jesus said, I am the way, the truth and the life.' Just before his crucifixion Jesus told his disciples that he was going away from them, but that he would return and receive them unto himself; and the Bible tells us how He is coming back and what will happen when He comes.

"The Scripture tells us that when Christ comes, 'before Him shall be gathered all nations; and He shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats. Then shall He set the sheep on His right hand, but the goats on the left.' Matt. 25:31-33. And to the goats He will say, 'Depart from Me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels.' V. 41.

There is no good time promised in the Bible for the careless and disobedient; and those who are expecting a better time than the present, when it will be easier to be good, will be disappointed. God is going to shake the earth (Isa. 2:19-21), and those who have made no preparation for that time will call for the rocks and mountains to fall on them and hide them from the face of an offended Deity. It is better to believe what the Bible says about these things and be considered narrow and crazy and odd if need be, than to go with the crowd on the wrong side and finally perish in style."

The topic at the tabernacle next Sunday night, announces Evangelist Prout, will be, "The Devil's Coming Vacation."

OPPOSE HARDING ON WORLD COURT

Republicans Warn President Of Danger to Party in Forcing Issue

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service
Copyright, 1923, International News

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The lines of opposition to President Harding's international court within his own party have been drawn together.

While Republican senators of the regular school, like Watson, of Indiana, were sounding warnings against the political consequences of pressing the court issue, Senator William E. Borah, Republican, of Idaho, made a reply to Herbert Hoover in which he asserted that the league court "like the whole international field," is to be governed by political forces, and not an impartial code of justice.

For this reason, the Idaho senator declared, he is opposed to the league court. At the same time he announced his intention of conducting a fight for a "real court,"—one in which international law is confident and justice may be dispensed unhampered by the political prejudice of the countries involved.

Hotbed of Intrigue

The league court, like other arbitration tribunals set up in the past, Senator Borah asserted, will be rendered impotent "by the intrigue and politics of Europe."

"I agree entirely with Mr. Hoover as to what he says an international court should be," said Borah. "I only disagree with him as to what the league court is.

"Mr. Hoover says: 'The international court is to deal in a judicial way with questions which arise under international treaties and under established international law; to provide a place where judgment may be given on the merits of a great multitude of questions for the settlements of which there has been no process, except negotiations or their reference to arbitration.'

'That is precisely what I would like to see—an international court to deal in a judicial way with questions arising under international treaties and under established international law. That is the kind of a court which I proposed in my resolution. What I contended for was: First, the codification of international law. You cannot have a court unless you have a code of laws under which it is to act and under the sanction of which it is to make decisions.

Court Is Powerless

"You can no more have a court without law than you can have life without air. But the present court has no jurisdiction, except by consent of the parties. In other words, it cannot construe international treaties or international law unless the parties see fit to submit a question in a way of arbitration.

"This court cannot acquire jurisdiction, except by consent of the parties which, of course, makes it a court of arbitration and places control of the court and all questions relative to the court under the direction and control of the political influences of the different governments.

"The inference from Mr. Hoover's address at Des Moines would be that this court has power, upon the initiative of any country, to acquire jurisdiction.

"We now have a court which was established at The Hague some years ago and this court has acquired jurisdiction in precisely the same way that the proposed court would. Both of them are courts of arbitration. Two arbitration tribunals do not make one court."

Urges Acceptance of Motor Bus Proposals

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—Recommendations in line with the program of railway line extensions and motor bus service which the Los Angeles Railway companies have offered to make, which was recently rejected by the board as "unsatisfactory as a whole," be now accepted, will be submitted to the city council, it was announced by Public Utilities Commissioner Bogardus.

Bogardus said that the recommendations will in no way alter the position of the board that the improvement program is "unsatisfactory as a whole," but that the commission is of the opinion that the proposed improvements are vital to the various sections of the city that will be benefited, and that the city should "get everything it can and try for more."

First railway guide was a small pamphlet of six pages containing a collection of monthly time tables issued by seven railway companies in England.

Rattle Of Steel Riveter Prosperity—Two Kinds Constructing For Future Minimum Wage Law

—By Gil A. Cowan—

HOW interesting it is to hear the tattoo of the woodpecker as he hammers away on his new spring habitat in the hollow of a tree. You seldom note that staccato sound in Southern California, but you do hear the rattle of the steel riveter on new structures on every hand.

Millions upon millions of dollars are being invested in new buildings not only here in the southland, but everywhere in the United States this year. The nation is getting back to its building stride. Never in the history of the country were the building trades more prosperous.

Readjustment, following the war, is complete and America is leading the world in progress. And Southern California is leading America. So you can see just where we are at insofar as prosperity is concerned.

Commenting on "Two Kinds of Prosperity" the San Francisco Examiner says editorially:

"With communities as with individuals there are two kinds of prosperity: a material well-being, and a well-being of the spirit.

"Over-emphasis of mere material ends may mean a great deal for the moment, but it will never win lasting renown either to the individual or to the community.

"President Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford recently was telling San Francisco business men that the city must dare to back projects which had no utilitarian purposes, but were expressions of the quest for beauty, of mind or of spirit—fine buildings, broad parks, the best musical organizations, art galleries.

"Henrik Willem Van Loon, the genial historian of mankind, contributes a word to such a discussion in a recent article. He says:

"'.....the material superiority of a city is a very ephemeral sort of thing.

"'Carthage, the classical example of unadulterated commercial success, consists today of two deep puddles filled with sea water. The famous Phoenician republic represented merely six centuries of wasted energy. . . .

"'Rome, a mere village compared to her Semitic rival, survived to give us our ideas of law and politics and of language. While Athens, a hamlet of mud covered huts, has provided the modern world with the skeleton of everything we think and know and do.'

"It is well to remind ourselves occasionally," continues the Examiner, "that the only things that matter, really, are achievements of mind and spirit.

"Engineering the greatest steel or railroad combination or building the biggest business, will never mean a thing to mankind compared with writing the plays of Shakespeare or the Divine Comedy of Dante or designing the Pantheon or the Taj Mahal."

So California in accepting the leadership of the world may well look to the development of its universities, its harbors, its social life and its laws as things of greater importance than the merger of railroads, more branch banks, etc.

Too many great minds are concerned in the management of business afairs while our legislative bodies and our colleges go begging for material on which to build a greater empire. In other words, the public is too preoccupied in the quest for gold to care a continental whether this state and this nation shall survive for all time.

For the sake of being contrariwise with contemporaries, the writer concurs in the supreme court's ruling that the minimum wage law for women is unconstitutional. Not only is it established so, but the very spirit of the legislation is wrong.

By establishing a minimum sufficient to maintain women this state and nation has destroyed the possibilities of many homes. And it has forced employers to positively refuse higher wages to many worthy workers by establishing an arbitrary scale which must be met.

For instance, in a department store, a clerk works hard to increase the sales of the hosiery department. She actually earns double the wages of the girl at the ribbon counter. Yet because of a minimum wage she is paid less and the other is paid more than that to which she is justly entitled.

Of course, the writer knows this argument is not conclusive, but it demonstrates the fact that legislation cannot correct economic ills. It simply tends to do so.

Among the many laws which we would have written on the books, if the minimum wage law is to stand, there would be the following:

No married woman permitted to work if her husband were capable of supporting her, because every married woman employed in industry eliminates the opportunity for a bread-winner.

No divorced person being permitted to remarry anyone who has not been married, because it is now possible for married men (or married women) to put away their partners every time new loves appear on the scene. Norman Selby and Willard Mack are notable examples, but no worse than many of our bankers and business men who "fall" for their stenographers; or wealthy women who become enamored with hotel clerks and bus boys.

In conclusion, the writer will not be the least offended if you disagree with these ideas, for, like the minimum wage law, they would simply tend to correct other economic and social ills.

Secret[illegible] Agriculture Henry C. Wallace told the California legislature that, as a result of his trip through the state, he would be better able to visualize the resources and needs of the west. It is our bet his vision will bring him back to the Bear state as a permanent resident. It never fails except with fools, and Wallace of Iowa is nobody's fool.

The sad thing about having a wife is she is liable to want the baby named after some movie actor.

THAT'S SETTLED

NEW ORLEANS, April 13.—The impression prevails in Ohio that President Harding will be re-elected easily in 1924, Dr. George T. Harding, the president's father, declared upon his arrival here to attend the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans. Dr. Harding said his son was a "true friend of the south and a lover of the land below the Mason and Dixon line."

GERMANS PROTEST

BERLIN, April 13.—German ambassadors in Paris, London and Brussels have transmitted a circular note to the various governments protesting against the creation of an inter-allied railway administration by the Rhineland commission as "a breach of the Versailles treaty." Germany protested against the expulsion of the families of German railwaymen from their homes on orders of the railway administration.

The Tale of Two Roofs

Roofs may not talk but time will tell. And so the tale of these two roofs was told by "Time."

Both were laid at the same time—some years ago. One was a "Weaver" Roof—the other wasn't. They both cost approximately the same.

When they were first laid you couldn't tell which was which. They looked alike. And they kept on looking alike for a year or two. But Mr. Weatherman sent torrents of rain and then burning sunshine—and then high winds—and he kept this up year after year.

Ultimately the one roof had to be replaced, while the other was still good..

It wasn't the "Weaver" Roof that was replaced, because "Weaver" Roofing is superior.

It isn't a matter of chance that "Weaver" Roofing outwears other roofing. It is because of the genuine, honest quality of the materials used in it—and the thoroughness of "Weaver" processing.

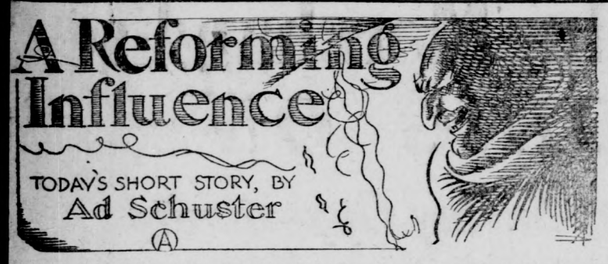
A Reforming Influence



TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

"All this talk about the stage not having an ennobling influence'" remarked Arkansaw Camp, as he leaned suggestively over the case of five-cent cigars, "is why we of the profession used to call the hokum."

"Yes?"

"I knew a man once, a man of family, a stalwart soul with a besetting sin, who was cured of his vice, and by no other agency than a conscientious and resolute actor." Arkansaw paused and moved slowly up the counter toward the ten-cent case. It was an effective move, for the clerk responded at once, checking its progress before the nickel precincts had been vacated. Arkansaw drew deep upon a pungent weed and continued:

"The actor, I may as well admit, was myself. We were playing stock in the old days of Ye Liberty Theater, and in the days before the people put the damper on the wets. It was my custom between acts to stroll out of the stage door and into a neighboring place where beverages were dispensed. There I saw a section of life and experience that was invaluable to a man whose business was interpreting human roles. I was a figure at the bar, an ornament, if you please.

"But this man I am telling you about. His name was Watts, Rollo Y. Watts, a short dumpling of a man with the face of a Buddha and a heart as large as his waistcoat. I had known him for years. I knew his children and I knew his sad story. Rollo Y. Watts was one of those men for whom the country went dry. It was his boast he knew when he had enough, but it had never been his practice to show that he acted upon the knowledge.

"A man who had once been a successful salesman, he began to linger upon the thin line which marks the falling off place. His friends were worried. I gave him advice. All he did was beam a listening smile.

"Watts was a man who believed that most of the wisdom of the world was possessed by bartenders and would laugh at a bum joke often told by a white apron, and remain unresponsive when a professional vaudevillian did his best. You may see he was down and waiting for the out. Something had to be done, and, if I may say it, the stage, American drama personified by myself, was equal to the emergency."

Arkansaw had worked himself naturally to the ten-cent counter. He tossed aside a ragged stump and waited his dues, which were forthcoming.

"It was late one night when Watts rolled into the saloon next to the theater, walking on the balls of his feet, his hands extended and moving gently like a couple of butter pads. He was worried, I heard afterwards, worried because of the strange things he had encountered in the street.

"'I demand to know,' he piped shrilly at Jim, the bartender, 'why it is that every lamppost on the street tonight houses in its glass confines a red-eyed cat.'

"Jim reached under the bar for the bottle for such cases, and acted the physician. 'Now you toddle home,' says Jim, 'and if you want to keep them cats on their posts you can bark as you go along.'

"But Watts would not do. He was scared, he admitted, of the reptiles which hung from the trolley wires. No, I'm not making fun of the man. I'm telling of his deplorable condition.

"It was at this time I slipped in the back door and edged up to the far end of the bar. Rollo was weeping and vowing he was going to smash every lamppost in town. Then he saw me.

"You may believe it or not, gentlemen, but those 200 pounds of maudlin humanity quivered and became solid. A pink face became white, his jaw dropped. Then he let out one yell, which I will hear until my last day, broke through the swinging doors and pattered off home as if a thousand cats and reptiles were at his heels. He never took another drink, and he is again a successful salesman, and it was all due to the American drama.

"There were others there who were visibly impressed, so much so that Jim instructed me never to come back. I may add the costume I wore, as I slipped out to beat the closing time, was that of Mephisto. We had been playing 'Faust'."

THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME
CHAPTER LII
Diarrhea

Dear Mamas, I know some of you have been worrying about your babies being constipated. But constipation is not so serious as diarrhea. Diarrhea, especially a type that comes in the summer time, works fearful damage with us babies. You know what diarrhea is. In diarrhea we have very many more than the normal number of bowel movements.

But remember this, Mamas, diarrhea is Nature's attempt to rid our intestinal tract of something that ought not to be there. Now perhaps these things that ought not to be in our intestinal tract got there because you did not feed us right. (I am speaking rhetorically here, Mamas. You know that I am fed right. I am given a most wonderful food made especially by my own mama to meet all of my needs. And those of us who have this wonderfully made-to-order mama's milk suffer very much less from diarrhea and everything else than do the unfortunate babies who cannot have this advantage.)

Perhaps you have overfed us of foods which would be all right for us in proper amounts, or perhaps you have fed us foods that we ought not to have had at all.

Sometimes these things in our intestinal tract that Nature tries so hard to get rid of through the diarrhea are the result of imperfect digestion caused by our resistance having been lowered by extreme heat or some disease or some other factor.

But the point is this, Mamas, we must get rid of what is causing the irritation, and we must not be given anything that will cause more irritation.

Milk that is unclean will cause very bad diarrhea and very severe poisoning. This milk may have been unclean when it was bottled at the dairy or it may have become unclean in our own homes before we drink it.

Perhaps our bottles and the nipples and dishes that have been used have not been kept scrupulously clean. Oh, it is so important that we have clean milk, and it is also important that our milk should be kept ice cold from the time it leaves the dairy until the time we get it.

If it is possible we should have certified milk. I have explained what that is before. But if that is not possible, we should have pasteurized, or boiled milk. Orange or tomato juice will give us the vitamins lost by pasteurization and boiling, so we need not worry about them.

But, Mamas, even though our milk is clean, if it is fed to us improperly we may get diarrhea. Too frequent feedings or too strong a formula will cause diarrhea, especially during the very hot weather when we are not able to digest so much food as we were in the winter months.

When it is very hot, sometimes we have to have our formulas diluted; and we have to be given frequent cool sponge baths and have most of our clothes taken off so that we can be comfortable and digest our food and not have diarrhea.

Doctor says one of the chief causes of diarrhea in babies who are getting a little solid food is letting them taste the different foods at the table. Many of them are very unsuitable for babies. This is a terribly bad habit, Mamas. You won't do it, will you?

The first thing to do for babies that have diarrhea, Mamas, is this. You must stop all feeding for 12 hours and give us nothing but plenty of boiled water or barley water. Sometimes we can fast for twenty-four hours if we are strong babies. This short period of starvation cannot harm us if we have plenty of water or weak barley water very often. A longer period than this may be harmful. This stopping of food also applies to us nursing babies, too. When you begin to feed us, our food should be diluted and given to us less often until we are well again. We nursing babies can have a drink of water before nursing, to dilute our food.

Most doctors advise a good dose of castor oil. During the first few months a teaspoonful and after that a tablespoonful. A large dose seems to be better than a small dose. If it is given from a warm spoon we do not mind it much.

It is better for you to call your baby specialist, Mamas, if your babies have a severe diarrhea. Don't forget that.

I shall talk more on diarrhea next week.

Au revoir.

Devilled Kidneys with Bacon

Bacon adds a savory touch to almost any unsweetened meat or vegetable dish. When your family's appetites become tired of the usual dishes, try some of the following:

Devilled Kidneys with Bacon: Soak two beef kidneys for one hour in cold water, then remove any strings which they may have and cut the meat in small pieces. Put over the fire two cups of hot water, a tiny piece of bay leaf and two tablespoons of vinegar; stir into this two tablespoons of flour which you have mixed to a paste with a little cold water, and let this sauce boil up. Then turn the kidneys into the sauce and let simmer till they are tender (in about 20 minutes). Serve on a platter with pieces of crisply fried bacon laid over all.

Bacon Tamale: Line a baking dish with lightly browned cooked bacon and slice over the bacon four large tomatoes (or the same amount of canned tomatoes), season with salt and pepper to suit taste and one teaspoon of sugar. Dot over with a tablespoon of butter. Add a sprinkling of chopped green pepper and minced raw onion. Then add a one-inch layer of canned corn. Add another layer of tomato and seasonings, cover with crumbs, dot with more butter and bake thirty minutes in a hot oven. When nearly done lay thin bacon slices over top, and brown in the oven. Serve hot.

Bacon Hasty Pudding: Make a stiff cornmeal mush and cool it. Next day cut it into slices and then into small cubes; lay these cubes in a baking dish (you should have enough to half fill the dish) and pour over them two cups of canned tomatoes, well seasoned. Sprinkle two tablespoons of minced onion (fried to a light brown) over the tomatoes and grate cheese over all. Bake in a slow oven till very hot, then lay thin bacon slices over all and return to oven till they are crisp. Serve at once.

Hot Bacon Sandwich: Butter a hot piece of toast and sprinkle it with grated or finely chopped mild cheese. Lay the firmer pieces of seasoned canned tomatoes over the cheese (or use fresh tomatoes) and cover with two slices of bacon. Bake in a hot oven till bacon is crisp.

Baconed Hominy: Line a shallow baking dish with cooked hominy. Cover with hot canned tomatoes, sprinkle with salt, pepper and sugar to suit taste, then top with thin slices of bacon. Bake in a hot oven till the bacon is done.

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

CHEERFUL RAINY DAYS

I can hear some readers say that there is no such thing as a cheerful rainy day. Well, it depends. I've had the nicest things happen to me on rainy days, and I've been conscious of being at my most miserable stage of being when the sun shone. But I'm not so much affected by the weather as some people.

In any case, we all should do everything possible to make rainy days cheerful. I don't mean that we should go around with bright smiles and wet feet and announce that it's going to clear up, when the clouds are blue black and the rain pelting and the barometer still falling. I mean that we should all look as nice as possible and trot out all our gayest colors—a Japanese rainy day isn't half bad because the waterproof parasols come out and turn the streets into moving flower beds of color.

We might do something like that. I never could see why umbrellas had to be black. I'd like to pass a law compelling them to be blue and red and pale green and bright yellow and such gay tones. And mackintoshes—why are they drab, tan, and gray, or "sensible" dark blue? Why not slightly gaudy shades, like the umbrellas? Our feet have to be clad in dark colors; in any case they'd be covered with mud, but we can certainly cheer up the rest of our rainy day garments.

Of course it's a temptation to wear old hats on wet days—and save our good ones. But why not special rainy weather hats in cheerful colors? Such hats are made, but all I've ever seen were hopelessly ugly. Someone should invent gay models in leather and oiled silk and lacquer straw.

Most of all, we should keep as trim and neat on rainy days as on clear ones. Why let the hair straggle out and the skirt drag because it's wet?

Lulu F.—For a person with dark eyes and black hair and brows, all the rich colors in the bright colors are becoming, such as your shook was all for brilliant blues and green and the combinations of these out such as henna, burnt orange and peacock blue.

Mrs. P.—The Pilocarpine tonic, for which I am glad to give the formula, is not a trade article, so you could not purchase it made up at any drug store. You may, however, have the formula filled at any drug store. There is nothing in the tonic to cause any streaking of grey hair.

Do you look pretty in bad weather?

Anxious E.—That roughness of the skin on your arms and legs will disappear if you take sea-salt baths and use a bathbrush to scrub the skin. Turkish baths will also relieve this roughness.

Tomorrow—A Complexion Chat

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

WORDS I HATE

Almost everyone has on his index expurgatorious certain sounds which make his nerves cringe.

Tearing cloth is such a sound for some people. Myself, I rather like it.

But the scraping out of a pipe with a knife is torture to my ears.

Now I think that there are also certain words which have almost as painful effects upon our auditory nerves. I will tell you some of the words I hate and have heard others speak of hating, and maybe some of them will be yours, and then again maybe you will have some more words to add to the list and we will have a symposium some day.

That Cheap Word, Swell

I detest the word "tony," also the word "swell." To use them to describe anyone seems to me to detract from one's own self-respect. There is an unspeakable cheapness about the words that reflects back on the user.

Secondly, I hate the word "hubby" used in the place of husband. Husband is bad enough but "hubby" is atrocious. As bad as the absolutely impossible "wifie," and rather more commonly used.

I think it was George Ade who said that in spite of his mastery of slang there were certain words he never could bear to use, and one of them was "chicken," for a woman. Ever since then I have felt a bond of sympathy and affection for George Ade (if it was he).

Elegant, in anything except the legitimate meaning (in which one hears it used about once a year) is an offensive word to me.

From Spondulics to Berries

I particularly detest the many circumlocutions by which people avoid the use of the words money or dollars. As a child I always disliked sprightly terms, "spondulics" and "simoleons," and then later, "bones." I feel that same antipathy today for such phrases as "That suit set me back 90 iron men," or "I'll have to rustle around to get the berries if you want a car like that." People seem to have a feeling that if they can couch a boast about money in some other terms than dollars and cents they thereby rob it of all offense. I think they add to its objectionability.

"If there is one word I am getting an active dislike for," says a Letter-friend, "it is the word 'Pep.' I always associate it with fake patent medicine ads, 'Renew lost vigor, etc.'"

Another friend thinks the slang word "attaboy" absolutely "awful" (speaking of cruelly abused words!"

Phoning and Autoing

Still another friend finds her ears most pained when she hears people speaking of "phoning," "riding in an auto," or "giving away their photos." "I know this is a busy world," she says, "but surely we can spare the time to use the whole word instead of insulting it by clipping it off in that cheap way."

What words do you hate, Reader-friend?

I've told you, now you tell me, and perhaps have the pleasure of finding other folks sharing your pet antipathies.

Decision Precipitates Demand for New Law

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—The first official move in California to meet the effect of the adverse decision of the United States supreme court on the constitutionality of women's minimum wage laws was made when a group of senators presented a resolution calling upon congress to initiate an amendment to the federal constitution empowering the states to enact minimum wage laws.

THE presence of ALBUMEN in the urine is considered such a positive sign of serious kidney disease that life insurance companies refuse applicants whose urinanalysis shows albumen. The fact that the disease may be present a long time before producing symptoms noticeable to the patient adds to the seriousness of Bright's disease.

"Brights Disease"

Under Chiropractic adjustments the amount of albumen gradually diminishes, and finally disappears entirely. Since the presence of albumem is considered proof of "Bright's Disease," then the disappearance of albumen must be taken as proof of the disappearance of that disease.

French Girls Favor U. S. Men as Husband

PARIS, April 13.—American men are popular with the French ladies, according to Eve, the magazine for feminine readers which has lately been carrying on a questionnaire as to the choice of professionality and profession of the husband a French girl prefers to marry.

The Frenchman, for evident reasons, was barred from the list and the American came out on top with a count of 13,914 over the Italian, second on the list. The Englishman was third, not so far behind.

As to the profession, the "beesness" man, as Mademoiselle says it, had a large majority over philosophers, bankers and artists.

"Thus," concludes Eve, "one can safely say without much exaggeration that the dream of the present-day French girl is to marry a business man of her own nationality and lacking that, an American in the same profession."

"The preference for the American," comments Andre Billy in Le Petit Parisien, "undoubtedly comes from the cinema. In the films which have become so popular in Paris since the war, the American man is always handsome, well-dressed and photogenique. It is his physical beauty which attracts Mademoiselle rather than his good manners and fine sentiments."

Rotary Club To Assist In National Boys' Week Program; Big Parade Plan

VARIOUS phases of the National Boys' Week program, coming April 22-28, were discussed at yesterday's noon luncheon of the Glendale Rotary club, held in the auditorium of the Citizens' building. A letter addressed to President Roy L. Kent of the club, from local Community Service headquarters, was read by Secretary J. Herbert Smith. The letter in part said, "Play is the sculptor that shapes the life of the child" and requested the club to co-operate in the work being planned for that week.

President Kent appointed the following committees to work on plans under way for a mammoth Boy Scout parade in Glendale on Friday, April 27:

Transportation, C. C. Cooper, chairman; entertainment, William A. Howe, chairman; publicity, Roy L. Kent, chairman; store-closing, Valentine M. Hollister, chairman; prize, Harry Webb, chairman; school, Richardson D. White, chairman.

This parade is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and will include the great majority of the boys of the city. As it is to be the big, outstanding event of Boys' Week, all merchants are earnestly requested by Chairman Holister of the store-closing committee to close shop during the progress of the parade.

Names Committee

In connection with the Boys' Week program, President Kent appointed the following committee to be in charge of the club's luncheon on Thursday, April 26, which will be given over to "play". Richardson D. White, chairman, and Francis J. W. Henry, Jack Huntley and Edward Hewitt.

The Rotary club at its luncheon yesterday had the pleasure of being entertained by Miss Marie Oliver and Miss Marie Williams, who were the special guests of George B. Karr. Miss Oliver is one of the candidates for "Queen" of Glendale's coming Industrial Exposition. She sang two delightful solos, "The Golden Secret" and "Sweetheart," accompanied on the piano by Miss Williams.

For their pleasing entertainment of the club, Miss Oliver and Miss Williams were tendered a vote of thanks by President Kent, following enthusiastic bursts of applause on the part of those present.

Letters to the Glendale Rotary club from [redacted] Friend W. Richardson [redacted] Assemblyman Frank Weller, w[redacted] inking the club for its [redacted] tion relative to Assembly [redacted] Nos. 761 and 762, providing for the transfer of the Whittier school from the State Department of Instruction to the State Department of Education.

Governor Richardson merely acknowledged receipt of the club's communication, while Assemblyman Weller stated that, although he had not yet decided how he would vote, he would take such action as he deemed "to be for the best interest of the state."

Expresses Thanks

A letter was read addressed to the club by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, expressing his thanks for the co-operation afforded by Rotary in obtaining relief from Washington, in the matter of funds for operating the local post office.

The letter stated in part that "the barrage of telegrams and letters forwarded to Washington from your body had great weight in demonstrating the necessity for the consideration that has been accorded us."

President Kent spoke of the inspiration received from the district conference of International Rotary held in Pasadena, April 5, 6, and 7, of last week, as did George B. Karr, Edward Hewitt, Francis J. W. Henry, George U. Moyse, Rev. E. E. Ford and others.

President Kent also paid a fine tribute to the recently organized Burbank chapter of Rotary, when he told of the excellent occasion enjoyed Monday night, April 9, at the Sunset Canyon Country club, when the Burbank club received its charter from District Governor Williams.

Reception Commitee

President Kent appointed as the reception committee for April, the five new Rotarians—Jack Huntley, chairman; and J. A. Newton, Ruie Downing, Ed Nisle and Fay Stone.

The following were among the guests present—Miss Marie Oliver and Miss Marie Williams, guests of George B. Karr; W. E. Lusby and W. A. Tanner, guests of President Kent; O. C. Wilhelm and James Hattrick, of San Francisco, guests of William Hunter.

The following visiting Rotarians were the guests of the club—J. Will Johnson, of Pueblo, Colo.; and Albert Sears, Leo Green and F. S. Beavis of Los Angeles.

NEW YORK, April 13.—"It is very natural President Harding should be suggested for re-nomination," John P. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee said yesterday on his arrival from a Mediterranean cruise of three months. Adams is going with his family to their home in Dubuque, Iowa.

"In the last two years, in my opinion," he said, "the country has been given the best administration in Washington that the Republican party has ever given it."

Adams refused to discuss the League of Nations or the world court.

RESIDENCE LOTS PLACED ON SALE

Homesites in City's Most Attractive Section to Be Offered

The greatest land sale in the history of Glendale is scheduled to take place tomorrow, Saturday, April 14, at 2 p. m., when large, scenic homesites in the city's most desirable residential district, facing the famous Brand's Castle, are to be offered far-sighted buyers and investors at prices which will undoubtedly close out this particularly attractive offering at an early hour after the official opening.

Suburban Heights, directly facing Brand's Castle, is today looked upon as the most favored spot in Glendale for a homesite. This choice subdivision has been planned with a view to establishing a lasting superiority. Improvements have been completed before the sale of lots, and today this desirable property has streets paved, cement sidewalks and curbs, and shade trees planted.

"The terms upon which we are able to offer extra large lots in Suburban Heights today," said Alfred R. Johnson of the Suburban Realty company, "are undoubtedly the most favorable ever to be participated in, by Glendale buyers. At prices which are particularly low for lots in such a desirable and much sought for district, we are, through keen financial arrangements, able to offer these large homesites at prices as low as $75 as a first payment, and a small monthly payment that even the poorest paid clerk can afford to meet. In making these payments so exceptionally small, we are striving for two purposes. First, we wish our customers to be able to make a substantial profit in a few months' time, and the present low cash payment will still allow the newcomer to buy at a reasonable figure, and thereby insure a quick and ready sale. Secondly, we desire to allow the homebuilder to buw his lot as low as possible in order that he may have a surplus with which to commence the construction of his home. In a number of instances we have seen where it was impossible for a man to pay a large cash payment for his lot and still have sufficient money left to commence construction work on his house."

Look for Quick Sale

"Our present offering at such low prices will undoubtedly be off the market a few hours after our opening tomorrow at 2 p. m. All lots will be sold from our tract office, at the corner of Western avenue and Tenth street, and we will neither make reservations ahead of that time, make phone sales, or hold a single lot for any customer or friend. We have 42 choice lots for sale at exceptional prices and the whole 42 lots will be there to be picked up by the early buyers. It therefore behooves the far-sighted ones to be at our tract offices early, pick out their lot and make the necessary small cash payment.

"As it is not probable that Glendale will ever experience such a lot buying opportunity again, we are naturally assured of an exceptionally quick sale, without any heavy selling expense, and we took this into consideration when we cut our prices and terms down to rock bottom figures."

Three Young Brothers Sent to Reformatory

LINCOLN, Neb., April 13.—What is believed to be unique in "family affairs" in Nebraska criminal records occurred here when three brothers—Claude, 18; Harold, 19, and Ross Stockdale, 20, of Lexington, Neb., began serving indeterminate sentences of from one to ten years each in the Nebraska State reformatory. The brothers were members of a group of six youthful robbers, all from Lexington, convicted of burglary in Dawson county.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Alice Langelier's column of Paris notes tells of the Mi-Careme fete, of the appearance of cherries in the Paris markets and other events in the French capital. The Paris letter was exchanged with the scheduled Washington letter.
TOMORROW — The world has gone radio mad, writes H. K. Reynolds of Washington, who tells about the recent radio conference in the capital and of Uncle Sam's foreign activities in this field.

By ALICE LANGELIER
For International News Service

PARIS, April 13. — The "queens" of the Mi-Careme, who were called "Bees" this year, rolled along the Grande Boulevards in the cold March rain under little straw hives that were built out of every-day coaches. Fancy costumes and masks were few because of the bad weather, but before the afternoon wore off many Pierrots and Pierrettes, cowboys, ladies of 1840 and Charlie Chaplins appeared singing gay songs and lending a touch of color to a dull fete day. At night little groups danced on the street corners and balls hummed until early morning. But it was not so gay as in the year 1187, when King Phillippe Auguste ordered a seven-day feast, and Parisians danced to the tune set by the King's piper and the streets were illuminated at night with wax torches so brilliant and numerous that it was lighter than day. Ah, the good old times—

Cherries made their first appearance in the Paris markets on Washington's Birthday. To be exact, it was a little cherry tree such as George's little hatchet might have chopped down. It had precisely ten cherries on it and was knocked down at auction for 165 francs, making just $1 per cherry, at the present rate of the dollar. No one had the courage to eat them. They went to adorn the window of a fine grocer's shop near the Opera, and at that his bit of advertising was not dear.

A shell dating from the war of 1870 exploded recently in the cellar of a small hotel near the Place de l'Opera. The furnace-tender, who made use of the shell for breaking up coal during many years, happened to split the wooden handle which was attached to it. Wishing to replace it, he introduced into the cavity a long, red-hot tube, and immediately a violent explosion was produced, dertroying several hot-water pipes and wounding the furnace man in the leg.

"Dig up your gold," says Monsieur Meunier, Deputy from the Ardennes, to the wartime slackers, who have kept their beautiful golden louis hidden in the famous "woolen sock," or in some secret hiding place. Though there is no gold in circulation in France it is well known that countless families have stores of it tucked away. Just yesterday an old miserly bachelor, Monsieur Maslier, died at Coulommiers, Department of the Seine, leaving a "cachette" containing 7,000 francs in gold pieces behind him.

The Deputy says that, in order to compete with money speculators and stop the fall of the franc, it is of first necessity to produce whatever bit of gold has been hidden since the war. He proposes a premium of 50 per cent of the value of every piece of gold that is turned in. Thus the state will pay forty francs for a twenty-franc gold piece and, at the present rate, will receive sixty.

The authorities of the Department of the Ardennes are apparently wide awake and up-to-date. They are the same ones who recently decided to permit unmarried mothers to conceal their identity. A woman in this department may enter any hospital for her accouchement, convalesce and depart with her child and "no questions asked." Of course, there is a little fly in the ointment—the falling birthrate of France, but even so it is a humane act, and efforts are being made to extend the law throughout the Republic.

HINTS FOR THE MOTORIST by ALBERT L. CLOUGH

Copyright, 1923, by the International Syndicate

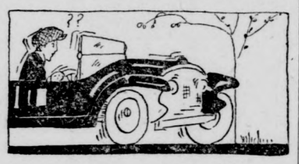
Questions of general interest to the motorist will be answered by Mr. Clough in this column, space permitting. If an immediate answer is desired, enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

PARKING ON GRADES

Because of the danger of cars becoming started and running wild, when left unattended on inclined roads, this should be practiced only when unavoidable, but when it becomes necessary, in the absence of a nearby level parking place, the car should be left with its right front wheel turned against the right hand curb, at a decided angle, so that it not only cannot run forward, but so that it cannot move backward more than the distance required to bring the rear wheels up against the curb and stop it. The emergency brake should, of course, be set tightly, this being generally required by law, but even if it is out of order the precaution above suggested will prevent serious results. As a further precaution and when the hand brake is weak, it is recommended that the car be left in low or reverse gear, as the braking effect of engine compression, unless it is very imperfect, is fully as great as that of an inadequate emergency brake. To be sure, the usual instructions are that its gears should be neutralized, when a car is stopped, but the necessity of this ceased with the passing away of hand-cranking and, as it is now almost universal practice to release the clutch before the starter is operated; leaving the car in low or reverse has the advantage that it eliminates the necessity of meshing moving gears, before getting under way, and makes starting the car prompter and more quiet.

NOT SMOOTH AT LOW SPEEDS

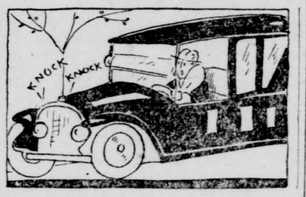
F. M. asks: Why is it that my car runs jerkily at speeds under 15 m. p. h. on level ground, whereas while pulling up grades, there is no jerking? The engine has good compression and there are no air leaks in the intake manifold or around the carburetor connections. The carburetor is of the ——— make.



Answer: Our impression is that your carburetor is at fault and is not right at low speed. You better drive your car to the service station of this make of carburetor and have it looked over. Sometimes, by substituting another size of compensator or secondary jet for the ones in use, much better results are obtainable. Are you sure that your spark-plug gaps are not too small This sometimes makes trouble during low-speed operation.

CRANKSHAFT END PLAY

E. B. writes: There is a slight knock in my engine, which I am told may be caused by end play of the crankshaft. If it is due to this, should it be noticeable when the engine is pulling or only when it is running idle



Answer: It will be noticed only during idling, as a rule. End play involves the slipping of the crank-shaft along its bearing and this can occur only when the pressure, between the shaft and bearings is very light or nearly absent or, in other words, when little or no power is being delivered. When an engine is delivering power, the pressure on the bearings is considerable and sufficient to create friction that will overcome the slight forces that cause end play.

TIGHTENING TIMING CHAIN

G. C. S. writes: The timing chain of my 1918 ——— car has become a little loose, after 40,000 miles service. Would you advise me to get a new chain or shorten the old one. Please tell me how to time this engine, as I might lose the setting while making these repairs.

Ainswer: We suppose that you have made use of the full chain adjustment obtainable by tipping the generator on its mounting, which is supported by bolts in slotted holes. This being the case, you better insert a hunting link in the chain, which will give it another long period of usefulness. Most explicit directions for doing this are contained in the instruction book furnished with this car, but they are too long to reproduce here. There is considerable work involved in doing this operation and perhaps you will find it advantageous to have the service station do it, although you can undoubtedly perform it, if you follow instructions carefully. If you use the methods recommended, there will be no danger of losing the timing. However, full timing directions are also contained in the instruction booklet. The service stations can furnish you the required chain parts.

Giant Dirigible May Visit Polar Regions

LAKEHURST, N. J., April 13.—The air monster ZR-1, giant dirigible which will probably be used in the proposed naval air expedition to the north and south poles, is rapidly nearing completion and mander R. Weyerbacher, in a few months, according to Commander R. Weyebbacher, in charge of construction of the big ship.

Already the "skeleton" of the huge craft has taken form in the large hangar here, and a small army of aerial "gobs" swarm daily over the framework at their job of installing engines and equipment.

The dirigible, when completed, will be 680 feet long over all and will be seventy-nine feet in diameter.

Its massive gasbag, containing eighteen smaller bags, will carry two million cubic feet of non-inflammable helium, a gas which is immune to sudden atmospheric changes such as would be encountered on the contemplated polar trip.

Six engines, especially built for the airship by the Packard Motor Company of Detroit, will be capable of developing 300 horsepower each.

Naval authorities refuse to estimate the probable speed which may be attained by the monster ship, but it is believed that it will surpass all records made previously by dirigibles, whether of the rigid or semi-rigid type.

The gasbag will be made of "goldbeater's skin," made from the intestines of cattle, and will be specially treated to resist weather conditions.

The structure of the ship will be duraluminum, an exceedingly light metal. This also will be treated to make it impervious to weather.

A special composition will be applied to the bag, structure, engines and gas tanks to avoid frictional resistance.

Work on the dirigible, now 75 per cent complete, will be finished about July 1, according to Commander Weyerbacher. A large part of the gasoline system has already been installed, he declared.

Warrants Issued in Salt Lake Killing

SALT LAKE CITY, April 13.—Formal complaints charging Marriner A. and John Broning, cousins, and prominent Ogden business men, with first degree murder for the death of Benjamin F. Ballantyne, bank teller, who was shot and killed in his home here Monday afternoon, were issued by the county attorney. Detectives left immediately to serve the warrants on the Brownings, now in the city jail.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE DIGGING DOG

There sounded, one morning, a scratching noise on the door of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow—a scratching noise as though some one was trying to dig his way in.

"Goodness! I hope that isn't the Fuzzy Fox!" whispered Nurse Jane, who was getting the bunny rabbit gentleman's breakfast.

"Hardly," said Uncle Wiggily. "The Fox would not be so bold as to come right up to my door and scratch."

However, the sound continued, the scratching growing louder and louder, and then a voice cried:

"When are you coming out, Uncle Wiggily?"

"The idea!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "It's the Woozie Wolf, very likely. He's bold enough, scratching on your door, but when he wants to know when you are coming out to have your ears nibbled—that is too much; I shall telephone for the police dog!"

"No! Don't!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose. "It isn't the Wolf. That was Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog chap. I know his voice." And, opening the door, there was Jackie on the steps. He was just getting ready to scratch again.

"Oh!" murmured Nurse Jane. "What did you want, Jackie?" she asked.

"I wanted to know if I might walk to school with Uncle Wiggily, when he goes adventuring," barked Jackie politely. "I heard what a fine adventure Johnnie the squirrel had yesterday, climbing a tree and dropping things down on the Fox, and I want something like that to happen me."

"But you can't climb trees, Jackie!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Your paw nails aren't like the sharp little claws of a squirrel. You can't even climb a tree after a cat."

"I know I can't climb a tree, Uncle Wiggily," whined Jackie. "But maybe I could do something else to save you, if one of the bad animals came after you."

"Very well, we'll try it," said Uncle Wiggily, and though Nurse Jane shook her head and said it was foolishness, Uncle Wiggily let the puppy dog boy soon set off along the path through the forest. There had been a little April shower during the night, and everything was as fresh and green as a piece of cheese from the moon.

"Do you think you'll have an adventure, Uncle Wiggily?" softly asked Jackie, as he walked along beside Uncle Wiggily.

"Well, you never can tell," the rabbit gentleman said. "It might be that I'll have one and then, again——"

"Yes, you're going to have one all right!" suddenly growled a hoarse voice, and out from behind a big stone sprang the Woozie Wolf! "You are going to have an adventure," went on the Wolf, "and the name of it will be 'Ear Nibbles!' I'm going to do the nibbling!"

The Wolf had hold of Uncle Wiggily. The bunny rabbit gentleman looked around and whispered:

"Now is your chance, Jackie! Climb a tree as Johnny did, or do something to save me from the Wolf, if you wish to be a hero. No, you can't climb a tree—I forgot about that. Your claws aren't made for tree climbing. But do something!"

There was no answer. Jackie was not in sight.

"Oh, dear!" sadly sighed Uncle Wiggily. "I guess Jackie has deserted me."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Wolf. "No one shall save you from me! I am going to nibble your ears!"

The Wolf moved around to get a better start at nibbling the bunny's ears when, all of a sudden, the Wolf fell over backward, and down into a deep hole just behind him.

"What did you want, Jackie?"

"Oh, wow!" howled the Wolf. "Am I going to fall through to China?"

"Maybe not all the way," said a laughing voice, "but you have fallen into a hole I dug just behind you!" and out sprank Jackie dog. "Maybe I can't climb a trte like a squirrel," barked the doggie boy, as he ran on to school, followed by Uncle Wiggily, while the Wolf was left floundering around in the pit, "maybe I can't climb a tree, but I'm pretty good at digging holes!"

"Indeed you are, thank you!" laughed the bunny. "And it is a fine thing we are each good for something different in this world." And when the lady mouse teacher in the hollow stump school heard how Jackie had slyly dug a hole behind the Wolf so that the bad chap tumbled in before he could nibble the bunny's ears, why, Jackie was allowed to go home an hour earlier that day.

And if the rubber plant doesn't try to stretch itself and reach up on the top shelf for a jar of jam, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily in the rain.

FUNDAMENTALS OF THE ELECTRIC CIRCUIT

It is common knowledge that a battery supplies what is known as a current of electricity. To obtain the current there must be a complete closed current or conducting path from the battery through the apparatus which is to be acted upon by the current and back to the battery.

For example, when connecting an electric bell a wire from one terminal of the battery to one binding post of the bell and a second wire run from the other post of the bell back to the second terminal of the battery, this would cause the bell to ring. Any break in the wires immediately causes the current to stop and the bell to be silent. This furnishes an easy method of controlling the ringing of the bell, since it is only necessary to break the circuit at one point to stop the current or to connect across the gap a piece of metal to start the current going again. Thus we have a button for accomplishing the act of control and the battery supplies the energy to ring the bell.

Similar considerations apply when we are using city lighting facilities. Wires are brought more or less directly, from the lighting station to the lamp, and a small break in the path through the socket is provided. This can be bridged by a metal spring actuated by the key, or the opening and closing of the circuit, can be accomplished by a similar mechanism on the wall of the room, or by a knife switch in a small cupboard. Sometimes the lights go out and we say a fuse has blown. A short length of wire (in a fireproof container), through which the current has been passing is of an easily fusable metal, which has melted because too strong a current was passing through it. A break in the circuit occurs and the current stops. Or it may be that it has become necessary to open a switch in the power house. It makes absolutely no difference where the break occurs in the circuit, the result is the same—the current suddenly stops. Electricity must then be regarded as flowing in every part of the circuit, so that electricity is leaving the battery or dynamo at one side and coming back to it at the other side.

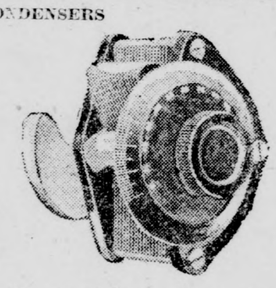
VARIABLE CONDENSERS



The reader may imagine that we are giving too much attention to the above subject, but it must be remembered that those who build their own sets are much like people who build houses. They require different designs, although the aggregate accomplishes the same result.

The illustration shows a condenser that may be utilized for either table or panel mounting. It is provided with a counter weight, which, balanced as it is, enables the operator to obtain steady and accurate adjustments. In addition it has a special locking arrangement which permits fine tuning.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"June Madness," the Metro picture now showing at the Glendale Theatre with Viola Dana in the lead, is one of those madcap stories of jazz, jilting, jeopardy and joy that delights the heart. And it is a story that starts where most stories leave off—at the altar.

The story goes something like this: Clytie Whitmore (Viola herself) is getting married but she doesn't like the idea. The bridegroom has a six-cipher fortune, one of the ciphers being in his head, thinks his fiancee, whose match-seeking mother doesn't agree with her.

Just as the match is about to be it, so to speak, the bride-to-never-be flees, and is assisted in her getaway by a dashing young orchestra leader, who later figures extensively in the plot.

All in all, "June Madness" must be voted a very pleasing picture.

COMMITTEE HEAD LAUDS THE NEWS

Success of Father O'Neill's Farewell Credited to Publicity

The following letter, addressed to A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, by Frank P. Dunn, chairman of the committee that planned and carried out the banquet and reception to Father James S. O'Neill on the eve of his departure from Glendale for Oxnard, testifies generously to the appreciation of the assistance rendered by this paper in bringing the affair to the attention of the public:

Dear Sir:—In behalf of the committee in charge of the farewell banquet and reception to Father O'Neill and the parishioners of the Holy Family church who joined in the great testimonial, I wish to express our appreciation and our thanks for the very generous publicity given the event by The Evening News.

The wonderful success of the hastily-arranged reception through which this community was given an opportunity to attest its esteem and affection for Father O'Neill, was due in a large measure to the whole-hearted co-operation of The Evening News. The widespread publicity given in its columns assured the success of our undertaking, and it is a real pleasure for us to record our deep appreciation of the valuable service rendered by The Evening News.

May we also add a word of thanks to Miss Sinks for her splendid report of the program at the Tuesday Afternoon club? Her article reflected the true spirit of an event that was unique in the community life of Glendale, and we feel sure that Father O'Neill and all his friends join the committee in thanking your brilliant staff writer.

Very sincerely,
FRANK P. DUNN,
Chairman.
